ACHS loses 3 VIPs at year's end

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Three members of the Antioch High School teaching staff who have devoted a collective 117 years to education, 78 of those years at ACHS, will retire at the end of this school year.

The Antioch High School Board of Education has approved the retirement of Principal Arthur Blecke, who has spent 40 years in education, 25 of those at ACHS.

The retirement of the chairman of the physical education/health department, Roger Andrews, was also accepted by the board at its last regular meeting.

Andrews has spent 37 years of his life in the education field and 31 of those were as a teacher and coach at ACHS.

A few years ago, Andrews retired from his position as head varsity basketball coach.

It was under Andrews that the Sequoias made it down to the State of Illinois Elite Eight Tournament in the early 1980s.

Roland E. Schleusener, the chairman of the industrial technology department at the high school, will also finish his 40 years as a teacher at the end of the 1989-90 school year. Schleusener has a 22 year tenure at ACHS.

The board also accepted resignations from two teachers, Neal Smith, part-time music teacher at Allendale and Richard Schisler, also an Allendale teacher.

Smith is resigning after two years at the Allendale to pursue a master's degree in music and Schisler will be accepting an administrative position with the private sector educational program at Allendale.

In other moves, the board:

— set Tuesday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m., for a special board meeting for the presentation of the recommendations from the ACHS Growth and Development Advisory Committee.

— set the final day of school at Wednesday, June 6, subject to any additional use of emergency days.

— approved this year's senior graduation program with commencement to be the same as it has in the past with special attention to be paid to ACHS's 75th anniversary. The faculty of ACHS has been invited to participate in the graduation program by wearing caps and gowns and marching in the processional.

— heard a report from Cathy Catty, student assistant coordinator, that reviewed the results of the "I-Say-Survey" completed by the high school and elementary students earlier this year. Results of the survey will be used to develop student and parent program presentations for the future.

In a final move, the board approved a request by the American Scandinavian Student Exchange Program to have Per Forsberg, from Sweden, attend the high school for the 1990-91 school year.

School growth impact Committee tags fees for developers to quadruple

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Dr. Donald Skidmore, superintendent of Dist. 34, reported the findings in a study done by a committee on the potential growth impact on the school system in the Antioch area, which includes part of the Villages of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst

"Now that we are being inundated with new developmental growth, the old ordinance comes nowhere near to paying even a small portion of the growth impact," added Skidmore.

Under the existing ordinance, a developer pays $600 for a three or four bedroom home, depending on the evaluation

Skidmore: 'It is time that developers pay their fair share of the impact their development has on the community.'

because of the children from those areas that attend both the Antioch Grade Schools and Antioch High School.

Speaking of growth impact on schools all over Lake County, Skidmore said that the committee recommends a revision of the village ordinance governing a new development's financial share of the impact that it is making on the area.

Skidmore's report also suggested a rewriting of the village building code so that anyone coming into the village for a new building permit will be subject to paying for some of the growth impact.

of the land. "This comes nowhere near to paying for school housing," said Skidmore.

Skidmore went on to say that the committee feels that it is time that a development that pushes the school population to the point of expansion or adding new buildings pay for the cost of the addition.

"Are you going to ask the people that already live here, who have already paid for their schools, to help foot the bill for those just moving in?" asks Skidmore.

The committee recommended that a developer pay $2,500 for every three bedroom home and $3,000 for every four bedroom home, depending on the land evaluation.

"It's time developers pay their fair share of the impact their development will have on the community," Skidmore finished.

Toe testing time

Puddle of water left by an April shower becomes an irresistible temptation for testing by Erica Benitez, 6, a first grader, whose rain slicker and umbrella provide ample protection against unexpected rainfall. Spring rains have been sufficient to erase all effects of the Drought of 1988.

Morison to assess need for new arts center

The future of the proposed Lake County cultural arts center now lies in the hands of a nationally known consultant who said "the country is littered with mistakes" of misguided attempts to enhance the arts.

Bradley G. Morison, owner of Arts Development Associates, and his associate, Julie Gordon Dalglish, have been commissioned by a task force of the Lake County Arts Council, to assess the needs for a center for performing arts.

"That's where you start. Is there a need? The arts must have audiences. The two go together. That's what we intend to find out," Morison told a delegation from the Grayslake Development Corp., which originally sparked the idea of developing a center where plays and music can be performed.

The Minneapolis based company was hired by task force members who obtained a $12,500 grant from the Illinois Arts Council and $2,500 from the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

The forest district is involved because 58 acres of district land located at Rte. 45 and Center St., Gages Lake, has been tabbed as site for the center which the GDC feels should be built with private funds.

"My job is not to tell you what you want to Morison, whose consulting work has taken him from small towns in Idaho to major population centers of the nation.

Arts Development Associates specializes in developing audiences for symphony orchestras besides its consulting work and conducting seminars on marketing the arts.

Morison and Dalglish spoke at a meeting at College of Lake County, which is interested in participating in utilization of the center if it becomes a reality. The consultants met last week with the task force at CLC.

Ed Snyder, co-director of the task force, and CLC activities director, is president of the county arts group. Diane Douglas, executive director of David Adler Cultural Center, Libertyville, is the other task force co-director.

Stressing that a feasibility study would be a logical next step if need is determined, Morison the rule of thumb for arts center is 100 performing nights per year. "You can't make it with 99 nights or less. No where is there a concert hall that breaks even. The good ones earn between 40 and 60 percent of operating costs."

Commercial utilization of centers helps the income picture, but often runs as cross purposes to the arts, Morison stated soberly.

Morison called the availability of land and the CLC interest "a couple of pluses."

The question was raised whether Lake County needs a central facilities or faculties that are "spread around."

Snyder underscored the position of the Arts Council of supporting the needs analysis "without any preconceptions." At one time CLC directors felt the council might be opposed to the Gages Lake site.

Morison and Dalglish said the study starting in May will be completed by August.

Village board 3-2 split pops up again

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The biggest issue in Antioch, the controversial reappointment of Police Chief Charles Miller and what some are calling a split in the department, continues to go on mainly behind the closed doors labeled executive session.

Many Antioch residents are calling for the board to bring those discussions in front of the people.

In a continuation of last week's board meeting, the Antioch Village Board considered, in executive session, a letter from Police Lt. Charles Watkins asking to be relieved of his duties as the telecommunications(dispatching) supervisor for personal reasons.

The board, in a 3-2 vote, refused to accept Watkins' resignation.

On the meeting floor, Miller said he was against accepting the resignation adding that Mayor Wilton and the police committee had replace Officer Lang with Watkins.

Wilton told Miller that putting Watkins in that position had been done to follow the recommendation made by the chief himself.

Trustees Don Amundsen, Ron Cunningham and Marilyn Shineflug voted to go along with the chief and go against accepting the resignation.

Trustees Larry Hanson and Ed Kosziorowski voted to accept it.

According to Hanson, the police committee appointed Watkins to the position only on Chief Miller's recommendation. "The chief told us since we had appointed Watkins it was up to us to handle it, so both members of the police committee did just that in voting to accept the resignation," added Hanson.

After the meeting, Trustee Marilyn Shineflug said, "I feel that I do not have enough information to vote to accept the resignation."

Shineflug had made a motion at a previous board meeting that a professional investigation of the police department's structure be made. The board approved this recommendation.

Although reports are that such an investigation could be costly, the board has not officially rescinded plans to carry through with the investigation.

Shineflug added that she also felt that no personnel changes should be made before that structure investigation is made.

When contacted, Chief Miller had no comment saying that the discussion before the vote had taken place in executive session although there was discussion on the meeting floor.

The board also approved a 4 percent salary increase for village employees exclusive of the members of the police force who belong to a union.

The union salary contract for the policemen is now in negotiation.

Dist. 34 tax rate jumps but less than estimated

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

With the estimated assessed valuation of Dist. 34 in Antioch, up by 24.5 million over 1988, the tax rate will be 2.892 per $100 of assessed valuation.

This tax rate is an increase of 32.4 cents over last year's tax rate of 2.568.

According to Dist. 34 Supt. Donald Skidmore, this figure is actually 12 cents less than the rate that had been estimated when the district electors approved a tax rate increase referendum.

In other business conducted at the last regular meeting of Dist. 34's Board of Education, Skidmore reported that the district had received 57 applications for the newly created position of assistant superintendent.

Seven were screened to be interviewed, but one of these seven is a dropout. After completing the initial interviews last week, three candidates have been asked to return for a second interview.

"We should make a decision on one person by the first part of next week," said Skidmore.

In other business, the board:

— accepted the low base bid of the Holian Co. of $38,900 for asbestos removal in the boiler room, mechanical room and access tunnel of Antioch Lower Grade School.

— the bid for the alternate work to be done in the tunnel will be relet.

Henschels get AARP award

Bill and Betty Henschel received one of the National Community Service awards from the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) at a ceremony held at the Antioch Area Senior Center.

Arthur Awne, president of Antioch Area Chapter 387, presented the citation at the AARP meeting held on that date.

Mr. & Mrs. Henschel, who are members of the Antioch Chapter, were selected by the chapter's board of directors for their outstanding volunteer contribution to the community.

The award is presented each year during National Volunteer Week to recognize the exceptional volunteer service of a member from each of the 4,000 local chapters, whose motto is, "To Serve, Not To Be Served".

Always available when needed, this couple sets an example for all to follow. Everyone has not only an opportunity but also an obligation to use their gifts and talents to assist others less fortunate. Bill and Betty Henschel have surely embraced the spirit of this motto and are to be congratulated.

Garage Sale

People, people, people, do I have some exciting "Hometown" news for you! The Antioch Chamber of Commerce is in the process of planning the "First Annual Antioch Community Garage Sale," and this is how it works.

First you must circle the dates May 17, 18, 19, and 20 on your calendars in order to either participate in the sale or just plain shop it. If you live in the Village of Antioch or close to the village in the township, send your name, address, and phone number along with a $5 donation to the

they are great! We usually park our car in a central location and go from house to house seeking out treasures. It is convenient, rewarding and loads of fun. So please help make this "Hometown" event a success by selling your unwanted items in an organized community effort.

For those of you who have no items to sell, please help by shopping the sales on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 17, 18, 19 and 20. You will love it. I guarantee you, and maybe you'll run into the Lizard as she browses and grabs up those treasures. How about you, Russ Fairchild, will you be there?

Pastas, Succulent Seafood, Appealing Appetizers, Spectacular Salads, Super Sandwiches, Bodacious Burgers, and Delightful Desserts. Nolan's offers a very relaxing atmosphere, decorated in soft peach tones and forest green.

It is truly a family place and the special "Menu for Minis" selected for children 10 and under proves it. You can reach Nolan's both by car and boat, as there is plenty of boat parking available. In my case it is so close to home I'll arrive on my white Schwinn or my red Moped (weather permitting). Watch for the exact opening date. Stop in to meet Mary and Mike Nolan and also treat yourself to a "Wine and Dine" in style!

No More

No more! The Lizard rests till next week. Hey, Mike Priller, when are you going to call me with some tidbits?

Hometown Goodies

Antioch Chamber of Commerce. Mark the envelope to the attention of Vivian or JoAnn, or you may stop in at the Chamber to register.

This information should be in the hands of the Chamber at least one week to 10 days prior to the sale, in order that everyone participating will be included in the advertising.

The Chamber will put up four foot by six foot signs at all of the major intersections in and about town. They will also list all of the addresses of the houses participating in the sale. These addresses will be in the paper. When you turn over the information and $5 to the Chamber, you will receive a garage sale sign to display in front of your house throughout the sale.

The Chamber reminds everyone that "One man's junk may be another man's treasure." So start getting all of those unwanted items together to make this event successful, to clean out your attics and basements, and to earn a few extra dollars to boot.

If you only have a few items to sell or you do not have a garage, and would like to participate, the Chamber will be renting out 12 foot by 12 foot outside space near the water tower for a $10 donation. This would give the added effect of a flea market section during the community sales.

If interested, contact Vivian or JoAnne at the Chamber at (708)395-2233 or Call Joanne Linker at J.J. Blinker's Clownin' Around at (708)395-3770.

In addition to all of the above, I'd like to say that my husband and I have shopped many of these entire community sales and

900 Years Behind

As I sit and write this week's column, I am only 900 years behind in my housework (especially my wash). It is amazing how one's priorities change throughout the years. In the past, before I would tackle any extra projects, the house had to be clean, the laundry washed (and even ironed), and a tasty meal prepared. Now the opposite is true. Before I attempt to clean the house, all of my special projects have to be completed. This results in me seeking more and more special projects in order to ward off the menial tasks at hand.

To Continue

As promised, here is some up-to-date information regarding the opening of that new restaurant in the Grass Lake Area of Antioch: "Nolan's on the Lake" (Bluff Lake that is) will be opening in about one or two more weeks. "Nolan's" is located in the Old Port Cove complex "On top of the hill," off Grass Lake Rd. and Bluff Lake Rd.

The beautiful terraced landscaping offers one of the best views on the Chain. In nice weather, you can enjoy a relaxing outdoor lunch or dinner on Nolan's beautiful over-sized deck. They will be open at 11 a.m. and will feature a delicious lunch menu and an equally delicious dinner menu. I had an opportunity to scan over the menu one day as I stopped in to check on the particulars of the grand opening. When I read the following my mouth began to water. Some menu choices will be Fantastic Ribs, Extraordinary Pork Chops, Stupendous Steaks, Chicken Delights, Primo

Schedule boat safety classes

Area residents will have an opportunity to learn boating safety basics at a Dept. of Conservation boating safety course scheduled from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Pedersen Marine in Antioch, according to Fred Ellis, coordinating instructor for the class. The class starts on May 8.

State legislation which became effective in 1978, requires that person 12 through 17 years old have a Boating Safety Certificate before they can operate a motor-driven boat without adult supervision. The certificate is issued by the Dept. of Conservation to persons who successfully complete the boating safety course.

"This is an excellent opportunity for young people who need the course to comply with the law," Ellis said. "The course is open to the public and anyone, regardless of age, may take the course to brush up on their boating safety habits."

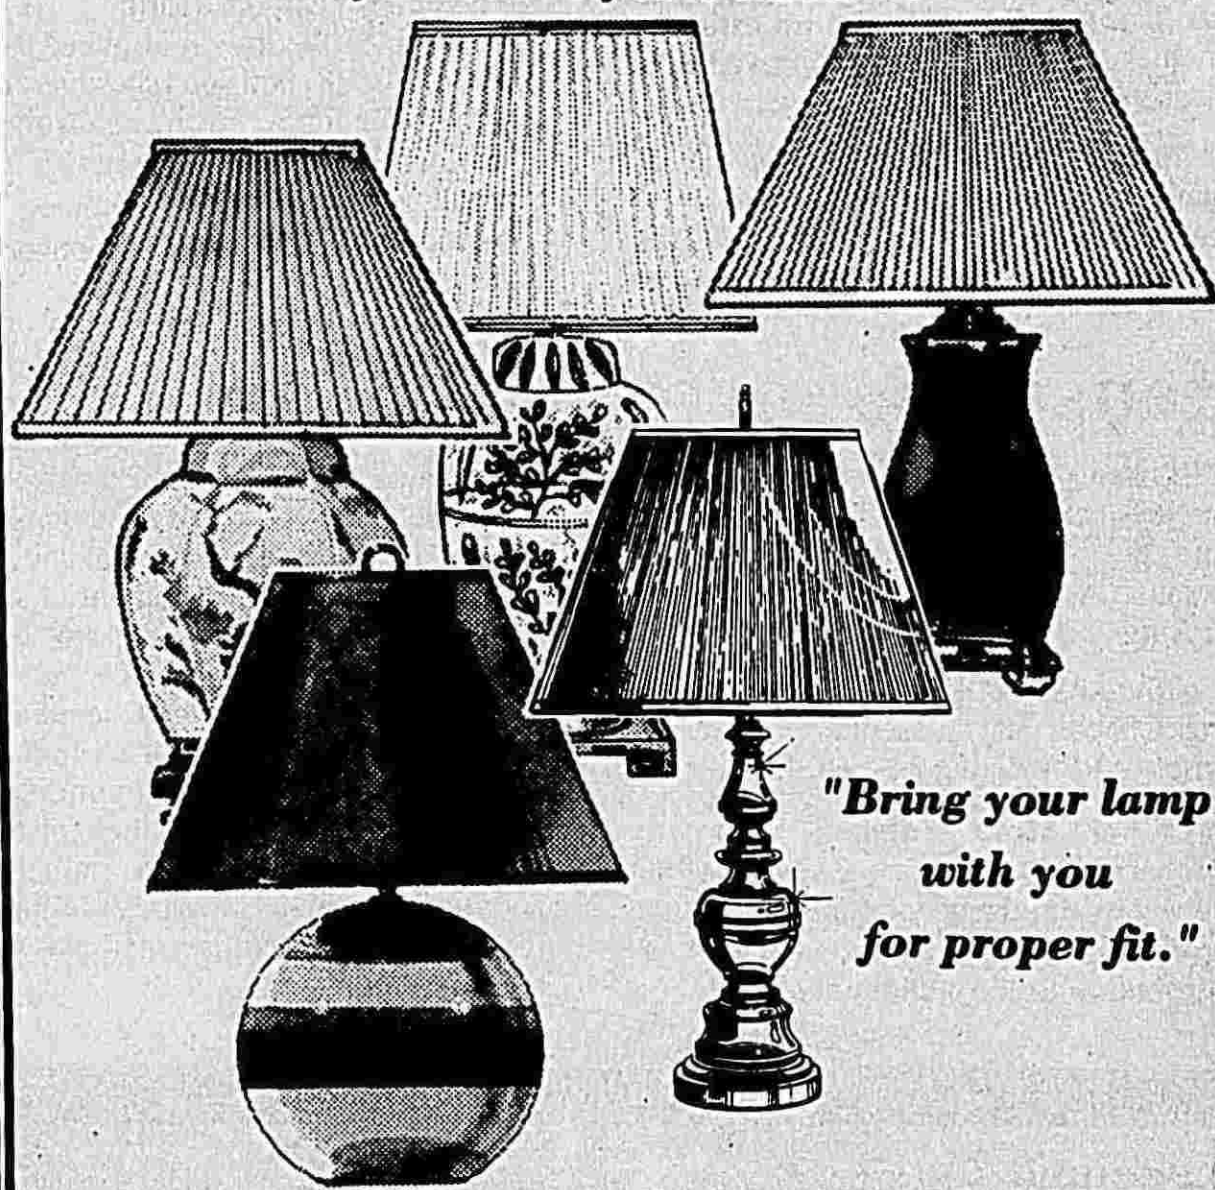

The 13 lesson course includes instruction in rules of the water, Illinois boating law, first aid, safety afloat, boating construction and design an other topics too that will help make participants safe boaters.

This course is presented by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. Further information about the course is available by contacting the coordinating instructor at (708)395-6692.

Leadership focus of Snowball idea

Teen leadership will be the focus of an "Operation Snowball" sponsored by Antioch, Grant and Wauconda High Schools. Approximately 150 students are expected to attend the day-long event, to be held May 4 at Grant Community High School.

Operation Snowball is a program that offers high school students the opportunity to help themselves, their peers and their communities in the prevention of substance abuse. The program is not a drug treatment program, but rather a way for drug-free youth to acquire skills to stay drug-free. Operation Snowball's purpose is to bring teenagers together with adults to share information and experiences in order to develop positive attitudes and feelings about themselves and others.

Through a multi-media presentation, student skits and small group discussions, the students learn about the effects of alcohol and other drugs, open communication and taking responsibility for their own lives. Additionally, students will be encouraged to develop a support system, build self-esteem and foster a positive attitude towards life.

The three sponsoring schools are seeking adult volunteers and contributions for the May 4 event. If interested in volunteering or making a donation to offset the costs of sponsoring such an event contact: Fred Loffredo, Wauconda High School, (708) 526-6611; Cathy Cratty, Antioch High School, (708) 395-1421; or Bob Koltz, Grant High School, (708) 587-2561.

Due to overwhelming response of participants, Chief Charles Miller of the Antioch Police Dept. has announced the first meeting for the Antioch Police Dept. Explorer Post that has been scheduled for May 2 at 7 p.m. at the Antioch Police Dept., 882 Main St., Antioch.

owners in an effort to stop the formation of a Special Service Dist. 8 in the area. The petition has been turned into the Lake County Administrator's office. According to Bill Baron of that office, "Our department, as well as the states attorney's office, the county clerk's office and the office of the recorder of deeds, is now in the process of determining whether a sufficient number of signatures on the petition are valid. This is a tremendous job." If enough of these signatures are deemed valid, no action can be taken on the creation of the special service district for two years. If the petition does not contain enough "valid" signatures, the question goes in front of the Lake County Board which will then take a vote on the special service district's creation. If the special service district becomes a reality, this will be the first in the county and set a precedent for the Lake County Health Dept.'s having a hand in lake cleanup in the county.

First time homebuyers eligible for HA program

Moderate income renters desiring to purchase their first home are eligible for second mortgage-type assistance under a new program offered by the Lake County Housing Authority.

Applications will be accepted beginning May 1 for families either residing or employed in Lake County who can secure a conventional first mortgage of not less than $42,200.

Total cost of the home, including remodeling, cannot exceed $98,638, a figure determined by calculating 80 percent of the average Lake County home sale, according to HA Director Alon Jeffrey.

Moderate income families no longer are eligible for any kind of assistance under HA guidelines as Lake County home values escalate wildly, up 71 percent in the past five years, Jeffrey stated at a press conference Monday at the Rte. 45 headquarters, Gages Lake.

"This is not a giveaway," Jeffrey emphasized. "We're trying to assist homeowners." He said the assistance, called the Homestead Program, provides for payback of funds designed to close the gap between what lending institutions need and what borrowers qualify for.

Jeffrey called the Homestead Program a partnership between the HA, county and private lenders.

A pool of $350,000 was obtained from Community Development funds. This will support 10 to 15 fundings. Jeffrey admitted that HA already has a total of 130 applicants obtained when the program was approved last year.

Deadline for applications for the assistance which amounts to an interest free loan for all practical purposes is May 31.

The Housing Authority will recoup the aid in an innovative "property appreciation share" when the home is either sold or refinanced in seven years, an arbitrary time limit described by Associate HA Dir. Robert "Rob" Peters as the average time people utilize a home in Lake County.

Admittedly modest in scope, County Board Chairman Norman Geary said the Homestead Program is a public response to need for affordable housing, "one of our most pressing problems."

County Board Dist. 4 Rep. John Reindl, chairman of the Community Block Grant Committee, remarked that Lake County has outstripped its capabilities to provide housing for moderate income families. "We're growing too fast. We're not considering blue collar families," declared Reindl, who unsuccessfully ran for renomination in the March Republican primary.

County Board Dist. 3 Rep. John Balen, a Democrat, stressed the importance of government involvement. "Private industry never will address the problem," Balen declared.

The Homestead Program has the same income limits as Sec. 8 subsidized rental aid, minimum of $26,350 for a family of four and maximum of $35,700.

On the right track

Now that the Lake County Arts Council is involved, the proposal for a cultural arts center is on the right track. Although the idea of a center for the performing arts is nice, the plan lacked the credibility without the involvement of artists themselves. Now they're involved and that's good.

A task force formed by the Arts Council has engaged services of a consultant to study needs for a cultural arts center. From the outset, it appears that the consulting firm will be using a hard-nosed approach. That's also in the best interests of everyone.

The original proposal for an arts center, hoisted by the Grayslake Development Corp., took on an unfortunate political coloration because the GDC suggested a site located on the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. near Brac Loch Golf Course on Rte. 45. As the consultant quickly pointed out, siting is getting ahead of the game. Assessing need is the job at hand and that's where the proposal now stands.

Much as we feel the establishment of a cultural arts center would enhance Lake County, we're not going to be miffed if the study proves otherwise. We agree wholeheartedly with the consultant who emphasized that availability of audience is a vital part of the equation. We know that local actors and musicians need facilities. What we don't know is whether there are audiences to support them. Finding this out makes sense to us. To be sure, we're looking forward to the results.

Senseless squabbling

When the Fox Lake Fire Protection Dist. needed land a year ago for another station a deal was worked out with Grant Township to purchase an acre of land owned by the township for $1. Later, when it was determined more space was needed, the township provided another acre at no cost. When Libertyville Fire Protection Dist. needed a new fire station to serve Green Oaks, a four acre site was purchased for $90,000.

Therein lies the parameters of land acquisition for public safety purposes. Obviously, the price is hard to beat when one taxing body can work out a deal with another taxing body. When this can't be done, market rates prevail as in the Libertyville case, offering a fair price to a willing seller.

With the Fox Lake and Libertyville fire station sites acquired without fuss, the asinine antics of the Lake Zurich Rural Fire Protection Dist. in acquiring another station site appear all the more ridiculous. Lake Zurich commissioners appear ready to pay ransom prices, like $200,000 for a site the owners don't want to sell. They are threatening the reluctant owners with condemnation to boot. The situation has gotten so rancorous that Lake Zurich Mayor James Kay has been forced to intercede as a peace maker and maybe even a head knocker in the interest of promoting good sense.

One way out of the Lake Zurich imbroglio would be taking an inventory of public lands to see if a site could be secured from another taxing body for a token price. It was suggested that the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. might have land suitable for a fire station. If a deal could be made, the forest district could use some good PR.

A side issue of the fire station siting question is unfathomable. That is neighborhood opposition. Green Oaks neighbors are opposed to the fire station along the same lines as residents in Lincolnshire who opposed plans for a much needed station advanced by the Vernon Fire Protection Dist. The NIMBY mentality (Not In My Backyard) escapes us. Fire fighters are good neighbors. They keep the grass mowed. They're excellent housekeepers. They'll help fix a broken wagon. And they're darned handy when fire breaks out.

What protection?

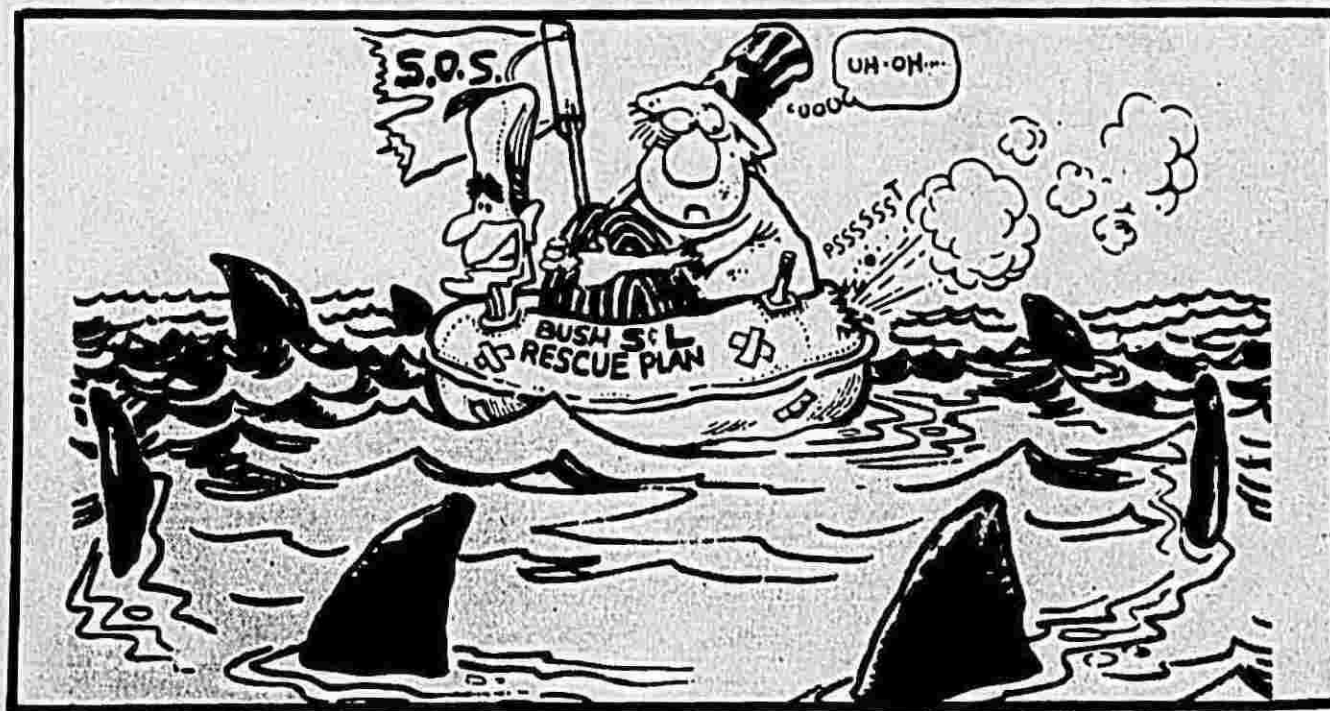

With the old bugaboo of "growth for growth's sake" rearing its head, officials of Round Lake Heights, a mostly residential community that is almost entirely built up, voted a strip annexation that for the moment, at least, effectively stops the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. from designation of the Fairfield Marsh from future acquisition.

Preservationists and controlled growth advocates supported purchase of the marsh and adjoining property because of its environmental and strategic value. Any disturbance to the wetlands area could cause serious ecological harm in the immediate vicinity and create flooding and environmental hazards to nearby Long Lake, a 640-acre recreational body of water and an unincorporated community of more than 4,000 population.

Mayor Sandra Morris explained that the board acted to "protect the village." Protect the village from what? Round Lake Heights already has been experiencing tough financial sledding, even to the extent of having difficulties meeting payrolls. Construction of an estimated 480 homes in the vicinity of the marsh, while perhaps providing a short term money fix with building fees, isn't expected to balance the budget in the long run. In a very real sense, Round Lake Heights' best protection from future headaches associated with high density growth and development was acquisition by the Forest Preserve Dist. of the Fairfield Marsh territory eyed by Cambridge Homes for a future homes project.

Mayor Morris feels the newly annexed strip gives her village bargaining power with the Forest Preserve Dist. Maybe so. The citizens without bargaining power are the residents of Long Lake who feel their lake will be turned into an "open storm sewer" if high density building in Round Lake Heights obliterates a valuable natural resource like Fairfield Marsh.

Shelter drive worthy response to violence

by BILL SCHROEDER

Scary. That's the only way to describe the statistics on domestic violence. Take a look at a random sampling of calls received during a six month period at a cross section of local police departments:

Antioch, 105; Highland Park, 54; Grayslake, 49; Lake Forest, 58; Lake Zurich, 53; Libertyville, 66. These are only reported cases, authorities emphasize.

The immediate answer for women and children who are the victims of domestic violence is A Safe Place, Lake County Crisis Center, which has an 18-bed capacity at the center in Waukegan serving families in Lake, Northern Cook and McHenry counties. In its 10 years of operation, A Safe Place has provided lodging for 2,500 women and children, and helped more than 8,000 persons through non-residential counseling and crisis intervention.

Volunteers are working to raise funds for a new, larger facility to house 30 victims to replace the present center where the lease will expire in June, 1991. More than $200,000 has been pledged and in-kind services of more than $250,000 have been promised.

There are not too many current campaigns more worthwhile than A Safe Place.

FREE HOME—The Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. is giving away a substantial and attractive single story frame home located on the newly acquired Duck Farm Forest Preserve, Lake Villa. No strings. All you have to do is cart it away. Bids are being accepted for the home removal until May 15. Melaine Drozd can offer additional information at the forest preserve district offices in Libertyville.

BIG HIT—Jack Brickhouse wowed guests attending the weekly VIP luncheon preceding graduation review at Great Lakes Naval Training Center with a stream of sports anecdotes and jokes. The retired Hall of Fame broadcaster hasn't lost his touch with an audience.

COMMON GROUND—Dist. 2 County Board Rep. John Balen, the guff talking populist Democrat, thinks the social fabric of Lake County would be enhanced if "we could get all those people buying $1 million homes to talk to people who are barely making it." Interesting idea, John. What's your point? Apparently Balen feels that progress could be made toward solving affordable housing problems by having the "haves" talk to the "have nots." Implant guilt feelings? Impart smarts of how to make it? Arouse social action? One thing Balen is sure about. He's against what he calls an "exclusive and elitist" housing market.

Wheels turn slowly

The price of your house speaks loudly in Lake Zurich Village Hall on why you have to take what you get if you don't live in Wynstone.

Certain Lake Zurich Village trustees made it very clear the other night that the wheels of justice turn slower for some. As a resident of the Lucerne subdivision with a major issue of public safety before the board, it appeared that the village primary concern was over funding and previously made decisions whose basis has now been proven invalid.

A village trustee stated that we were being selfish for not wanting Pheasant Ridge Rd. to open as it did not serve in the best interests of the entire community. We happen to think that the public safety of at least 97 young children is in the best interests of the village. He also stated that if we learned to control our children, safety would not be a problem. Another trustee stated that because we don't live in Wynstone we have to put up with living on a busy and much too narrow arterial street.

We may not live in the most expensive neighborhood, but at election time our vote is going to count just as loudly.

Year makes difference

I've been a Round Lake Park resident for 32 years and lately I find myself waxing nostalgic for the good old days when the only publicity our village received was for Chief Robinson's Christmas Fund.

What we have now is a mayor who is a political hot potato, Trustee Beyer, who changes political loyalties like a chameleon changes color, a police department under siege and a village board that looks more like the Trustee on the Month Club.

These are the same people who came to my door one year ago promising unity and positive change. All they've managed to do is cause dissension and commit other various acts of treachery.

The price for this type of government is high. Legal fees, law suits and general mismanagement are just the tip of the iceberg. With this in mind, the good old days are looking better all the time.

Will the real James Kay please stand up? The Kay I'm talking about is mayor of Lake Zurich.

The Mundelein resident just won a Fulbright-Hays Seminar Abroad Award to India, which is why his photo came across my desk. This summer he will attend a seminar on Indian art and culture in New Delhi. The information will be used to develop a new humanities course at CLC.

When he returns and wants to play hockey; maybe the mayor of Lake Zurich will fill in for him. Or Simonsen might like to do the same for Kay when he decides to take a day off.

If Fremont Twp. is the home of judges, Lindenhurst has the Health Connection.

Mayor Robert Ratch estimates 50 percent of the village's 7,500-plus residents are employed in the health-care industry.

They work for Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago, Baxter Laboratories in Round Lake or Deerfield and the G.D. Searle Co. in Skokie.

Two Abbott executives are on the village board: trustees Brian Smith and Thomas Berger. Another Abbott employee, Jeff Lind, was on the board until resigning a year ago.

"For the most part, people in the health field are well educated and well paid," Ratch said. "They want a good, quiet community with amenities to raise their family. And Lindenhurst is within easy commuting distance of their jobs."

Today's average Lindenhurst home is going for $130,000 to $150,000. But if you want a new one, you're talking $150,000 to $200,000.

It must be the air. Or maybe it's the water. Better still, how about the open space?

I'm talking about Fremont Twp., the largely rural 36-square-mile township smack dab in the center of Lake County.

Among its 15,000-plus residents are three judges, which is more per capita outside of Waukegan.

First there is Judge Charles Scott, who has been on the 19th Judicial Circuit since 1975. Then there is Stephen Walter, who has been a 19th Circuit Court judge for five years. Both are up for retention on the November ballot.

Then there is associate judge Harry Hartel, who was first appointed in 1973.

They're three well respected, nice people to know. Fremont Twp. is fortunate.

With his election last year Libertyville Twp. Supv. Ralph Swank has been modernizing operations. He talks with pride about computerizing "archaic" financial records and, even, streamlining meetings.

Swank is working toward once-a-month township meetings, down from the monthly four (two a month for open space) when he took office.

Today, those who want to speak at a meeting must submit a request in advance. To hold down legal costs, executive sessions with lawyers are scheduled prior to the regular meeting. The audience be damned until 8 p.m. or later.

One of those new Swank meetings was held last week. It was the annual township meeting, the most important of the year.

In less than one-half hour the crowd of 30 was there and gone. The budget was mentioned in glowing terms, especially a $60,000 surplus built on a tax increase last year and cut in general assistance. The only sour note was the general assistance budget of $25,000 for two recipients which includes $64,000 in salaries.

As for the township budget, Swank told everyone to come back Monday, May 14, for a hearing. This is one way to avoid past annual meetings featuring dozens of speakers on everything from finances to politics. Of course, that's the stuff town meetings are made of.

Robert Neal, the ex-county Republican chairman, insists he didn't finagle the 1990 Robert Milton Award. That honor, named for a past county GOP party chairman, goes biennially to the precinct committeeman showing the highest voter turnout in a contested spring primary.

In 1988 it went to Venita McConnell, Wauconda Twp. GOP chairman. Her election was contested. This year's winner was Donna Cuilla of Warren Twp 249. She had no opposition.

The rightful winner, says committeeman Bill Whiteley of Wauconda, who doesn't like the way Neal juggles the books, should have been Charles Nordigan of Newport 186. He knocked off Neal in the primary. And he worked hard doing it. Neal says the award is only for committeemen in office at the time. So who's right?

Lake County At A Glance

Awareness Day

WAUKEGAN—Two candidates for the office of governor of the State of Illinois will be in attendance at the county-wide Disabilities Awareness Day program scheduled for Saturday, April 28 at Lakehurst Mall in Waukegan. State's Atty. Neil Hartigan (Democrat) and Secretary of State Jim Edgar (Republican) are expected to headline the program, which begins at 1 p.m. The event, sponsored by the Lake County Chapter of Citizens with Disabilities Coalition, as well as the Winthrop Harbor Lions Club and the Zion Chapter of the National Organization on Disability, will consist of exhibits, entertainment and the 1 p.m. program featuring Hartigan and Edgar.

Study golf center

LIBERTYVILLE—A family golf center with driving range, miniature golf and putting green and possible clubhouse for year around use, including winter lessons, is being proposed as the next Libertyville Park Dist. project. Potential site is near the Ozite Corp. on Peterson Rd. to attract golfers of all ages traveling to the many area golf courses.

Plans for future

LAKE ZURICH—John Bell III, of Bell's Apple Orchard, Rte. 22 in Lake Zurich plans for the future by requesting a Planned Unit Development (PUD) from North Barrington village officials. The PUD will include 5.5 acres of commercial zoning and 12 two-acre residential sites. This is the same five acres planned to be condemned by the Lake Zurich Rural Fire Dist. if Bell does not accept a $200,000 offer. The fire district said a fire house is needed on the west side of the district and selected Bell's and two other sites to build fire houses. Although Bell has claimed he does not want to sell his land, the PUD request is planning for the future. The 35-year-old apple grower said he has 10 more years of decent production and will drop off each year afterwards. "In the next 10 years, I will face the choice of replanting or not replanting," he said.

Petition turned in ANTIOCH—The residents in the Loon Lakes area have succeeded in collecting signatures of 51 percent of the registered voters in the area and 51 percent of the property owners in an effort to stop the formation of a Special Service Dist. 8 in the area. The petition has been turned into the Lake County Administrator's office. The county will now check the signatures on the petition against forming the district for validity. If all the signatures are valid, the county can take no action on the creation of a special service district in Loon Lakes for two years. If the number of valid signatures is not sufficient, the Lake County Board will then vote on creating the first special lake district in Lake County.

Eye woods plan

GURNEE—HeatherRidge Umbrella Assn. delegates will be casting votes May 15 on whether or not to accept a new plan for purchase of the woods which front the Rte. 21 entrance for the subdivision. Residents jammed the recreation center Sunday afternoon to hear the latest proposal. After others were outlined, the one presented by the woods committee includes a total acreage of 12,336 acres. A Gurnee Park Dist. purchase would be 2.2 acres. Considering also a contribution from Cambridge Homes and a rental fee for a sign by Cambridge brings the cost per unit owner to about $352.09. The resolution will read to approve the purchase plan but not have it exceed $350 a unit rate.

Architect dies

HIGHLAND PARK—The designer of several Lake County edifices died last weekend at Highland Park Hospital. Bruno Lunardi, 74, was a native of Italy who became a noted architect on the North Shore after designing several edifices, including St. James Church and School in Highland Park, St. Joseph's Church in Libertyville, Immaculate Conception School in Highland Park, Highland City Hall, Mother of God Convent in North Chicago, the Hulse Detention Center in Waukegan and Trans-World Travel in Highland. He also was a consulting architect on the Lake County Building in Waukegan and designed numerous residential buildings throughout the metropolitan area. Burial was at Ascension Cemetery in Libertyville Twp.

School wins award

VERNON HILLS—Hawthorn Junior High School has been informed that it is the recipient of the 1989-90 United States Dept. of Education "Drug Free School Recognition" program honors. Junior High Principal Erwin Einhorn made the announcement at a board of education meeting Monday. Einhorn said the district was informed of the prestigious award through Congressman John Porter's office. The board acknowledged the district's receiving of the award.

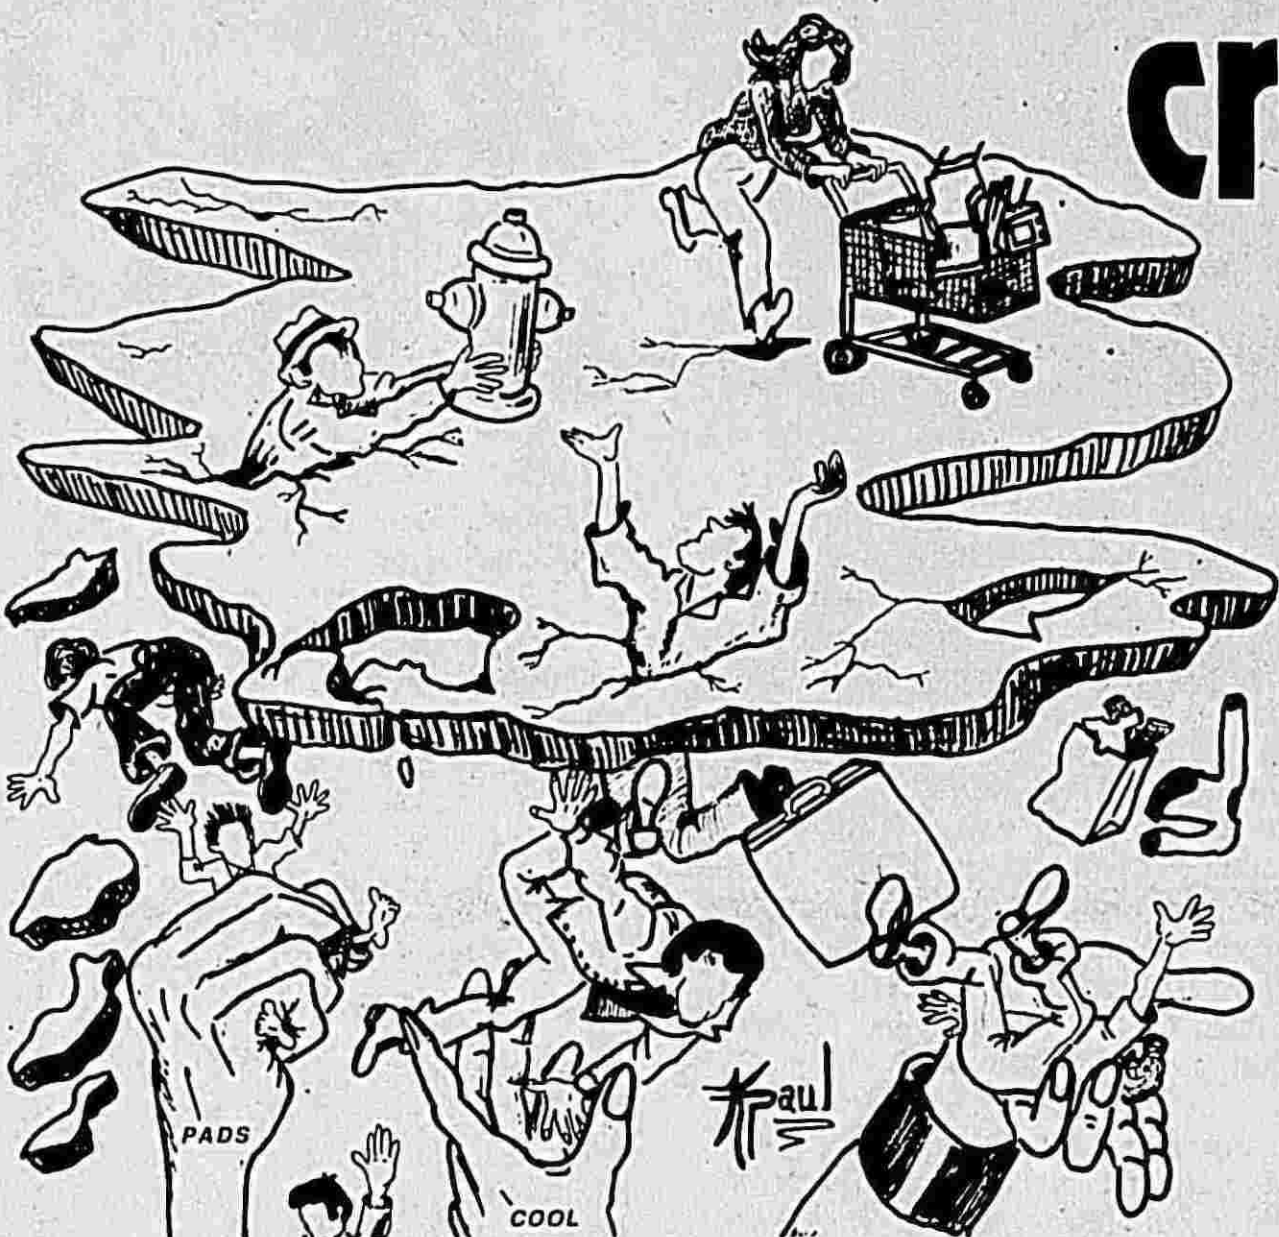

History in making

MUNDELEIN—Listing in the National Registry of Historic Places will be sought for the 50-year-old village hall. But not all village trustees like the idea. They say document preparation will be time consuming for a building that barely qualifies for listing. Additionally, the $10,000 matching federal and state grants the village might receive for remodeling will require approval of all plans, which could limit work the village plans.

No park for Cuneo

VERNON HILLS—Mayor Barbara Williams says her village will not give up 475 acres of the 1,175 Cuneo Estate to the Forest Preserve Dist. for park purposes. She said the village wants the golf course and luxury homes planned for part of the estate surrounding Lake Charles. Williams said she will sit down and talk with other area mayors and county officials, as the Forest Preserve Dist. wants, but she is resolute in retaining all the Cuneo property.

Slipping through the widening cracks in the system

Many of Lake County's homeless still fall through society's cracks

Editors Note: This is the second installment of a three part series on the homeless in Lake County. The first installment introduced some of the homeless and a few of those trying to help. This part will deal more with the programs set up to deal with the problem and the difficulties such programs face. Part three, appearing next week, will address what Lake County can and should do in the future.

by PAT CHRISTENSEN
Lakeland Newspapers

"I want this in the papers. Because people should know what they're doing. Because it's wrong!"

The speaker is Bertha Foxworth, mother of four, and homeless after a fire destroyed her apartment. She admits that her son may have set the fire accidentally. "I didn't see it. I was in the bedroom when I thought I smelled smoke. I came out but didn't see anything. I smelled it again and when I came out I saw all the flames and the smoke." Foxworth says that no one was injured in the blaze.

The apartment managers say that one of Foxworth's son's set the blaze. The boy is a student enrolled at Laremont School in Libertyville, an alternative, special education school. He is mentally handicapped. Because the tenants caused the blaze, the Marion Jones Apartment says it has no place for Foxworth and that it will not allow her family back into the building. Foxworth and her family have lived in the apartment for 12 or 13 years.

Foxworth and her children are now residents of the PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) system. They are not the only family in the shelters. Another man, "Michael" (not his real name), a single father with two young children is also living at the shelter.

"Work isn't the problem for me," he says. "I can find a job around here. But who's going to look after my kids while I look for a job? Where do I leave them when I go to work? I need to get set up in an apartment and find someone to watch my kids and then I can work on getting a job."

Sometimes even finding a place to live may not be the full solution. Another family, this one a couple with a two-month old infant, found temporary housing, only to be asked to leave in just under two weeks. They are now back in the shelters with their infant. And the shelters are due to close for the summer on April 30.

It is Foxworth's story, at this point, that may begin to illustrate what happens when a family "hits the street."

Foxworth says she had been on public aid until approximately two years ago. She applied for section 8 housing almost four years ago, but hasn't been called yet. She receives a few hundred dollars a month in social security payments for her two boys, but other than that she has no income.

The Foxworth family lost their apartment sometime during the second week of April. Since that time Foxworth has contacted Catholic Charities, the Lake County Public Aid Office, the mayor's office in North Chicago, Prairie State Legal Services, PADS, SER/Fair Housing, and the Rolling Green Apartment complex in North Chicago.

The Lake County Housing Authority has been contacted on her behalf, as well as several landlords throughout Lake County. Prairie State Legal Services has been contacted about a possible lawsuit against Foxworth's former landlord, the owners of the Marion Jones Apartments.

Volunteers within the PADS system who know of Foxworth's plight are independently attempting to find shelter for the family, and the North Chicago mayor's assistant, Evelyn Alexander, has made an exhaustive attempt to find available housing for the family in North Chicago. Catholic Charities has offered to help pay the first month's rent on any available apartment she can find. It is finding the apartment that seems to be the major difficulty.

Because her son apparently set the blaze and because her family is on a limited income, no apartment or housing manager can be found who will admit to having room for the family.

As Rev. Dennis Cress, pastor of the Hillcrest Baptist Church and a PADS site manager and member of the PADS advisory board, points out, most apartment managers require information about the last place of residence from a potential tenant. For the Foxworth's this may be the greatest difficulty.

"Affordable housing is scarce enough, but for a single mother with four children, and no source of income other than SSI, it is even worse. Considering the fire that destroyed the Foxworth's last apartment, it may be understandable why, almost two weeks after the fire, the family is still on the streets living from shelter to shelter with no end in sight.

Foxworth is having difficulty understanding. "This should not be happening," she says bitterly. She feels she has been shorted by the agencies she has been in touch with, even walking angrily out of a meeting with a Catholic Charity caseworker that she called "snippy."

Foxworth apparently failed to make a scheduled appointment at Prairie State Legal Services. Foxworth said she tried to explain to the Catholic Charities caseworker that she had been too ill to walk that day. "She wouldn't listen," Foxworth complained, "she just kept talking, so I got mad and walked out."

One of Catholic Charities' rules for assistance is that a client must meet all appointments whenever possible. Vara Aiuppa explained that rules such as these are designed to ensure that a client is motivated. "If they don't follow through, we can't help them," she explains. "They have to be willing to help themselves. If they won't help themselves, there's not much we can do."

Foxworth said that she and her family have spent a few nights in a motel. But for the most part they have stayed in the PADS shelter, getting from site to site by relying on casual lifts from friends or other shelter residents. "The hardest part," said Foxworth, "is not knowing where you're going to sleep from one day to the next, or where you're going to go during the day, or how you're going to get anywhere dragging four kids behind you."

Michael sees the problem as being one of affordable housing and affordable child care. "Work is booming," he said, at an interview at a local shelter. "There's a lot of work all over the place. But affordable child care just isn't available."

Michael's family has been offered help from Catholic Charities with his first month's rent also. "But they don't pay the deposit. Many places won't accept the vouchers, and the ones who will accept them want $400 plus the first month's rent. Who here has that kind of money?"

Michael gained custody of his children when his wife left him, and when he decided to return to Illinois, in order to find work, he found himself and his family in the shelters.

He spoke of a time before he and his children found themselves homeless and in need. "I was at a bus station and there was a woman there. She had a little baby and they weren't dressed too good. She went into the washroom and when she came out she was feeding the baby from a bottle that she had just filled with tap water. I asked her why she wasn't giving the baby milk, and she said she couldn't afford it. She was trying to get home to Indiana. An agency in Colorado had helped her by giving her a bus ticket, but she couldn't afford milk for her baby along the way. I gave her twenty dollars so she could get milk and feed her older daughter and herself. I didn't care. I just wanted to help."

Now that he is in need, money concerns him more. Especially the money raised by performers and other public figures.

"Where is all the money going?" he asked. "All these celebrities who raise all this money for the homeless, tell me, where is the money going? They're going to close the shelters here for the summer. Where is that money going to, if not to the shelters?"

A larger question asked in Lake County is, where do the homeless go when the shelters are closed? Shelter workers say that residents at the shelters are talking about beaches, bridges and parks. Some, they hope, will be able to find friends to stay with, but many will not.

Waukegan Mayor Haig Paravonian is more than a little concerned about where the homeless stay over the summer. Last year Paravonian and Waukegan Police Chief George Bridges instituted a series of "street sweeps" to round up homeless and indigent commonly found in the downtown Waukegan area, close to those agencies that serve the homeless.

During the sweeps, many of those who were picked up by police claim that they were harassed and that false charges were issued against them. They were arrested for vagrancy, public intoxication, loitering, soliciting and many other charges. Many of these cases were subsequently thrown out of court.

Paravonian and Bridges are honorary chairmen of the Street People Task Force that was started this year. The task force includes workers from many other agencies, including PADS, the Coalition for the Homeless and the Lake County Health Dept., among others.

Ginny Fagin, a member of the Task Force, explains that the group is just getting started. "So far we've had a few meetings and divided into four subcommittees. There is a committee doing a survey on the scope of the homeless in Waukegan and Lake County. There is a subcommittee looking into codes, laws and liquor licenses. There is a subcommittee on the homeless, housing and social security issues. And there is a committee on health care, mental health and chemical dependency.

So far it would seem that the efforts of both the public and the private sector have been, by many of their own admissions, loosely or poorly organized and mainly inadequate. Instead of a few individuals slipping through the cracks, hundreds of people in Lake County alone appear to be plummeting through chasms of need. Part three of this series will focus on what needs to be done to alleviate the situation and whether or not there is any practical way to achieve a workable solution to the problem of the homeless in Lake County.

Bob and Pat Hagen's B & G Cyclery in Round Lake carries a large line of in-stock bicycles as well as parts and accessories including helmets, water bottles, seat covers and a cycle computer. At right, Bob checks out the inventory at his shop. —Photos by Malena Schroeder

Cycling is a 'fun' business for Hagen

by MALENA SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Bob Hagen, owner of B&G Cyclery in Round Lake, got tired of corporate America. One day his previous employer, a major corporation, laid off 150 engineers and he happened to be one of them.

At the time, he had been working on bikes in his spare time out of his best friend's garage in Lake Zurich. He began by repairing bikes and it eventually developed into a retail establishment. After the layoff, he decided to try this business on a full time basis.

Why did he decide on Round Lake? Well, as a resident it seemed more convenient. As he adds smiling, "I knew I'd need help. Our girls could ride their bikes to this location, but Lake Zurich would have been a long ride for them." Thus, B&G Cyclery (Bob and the girls) was born. As Bob adds, he got a few free years from the girls, but they made up for it with his generous Christmas bonuses.

B&G's is a real family owned and operated business. Bob's wife Pat, along with daughters Christy and Nikke, is actively involved. Even grandma and grandpa show up to help every once in a while.

The store carries a large line of in-stock bicycles. It carries a full line of parts and accessories including helmets, water bottles, seat covers and one of the more popular items, a cycle computer. The computer measures the MPHs you travel and has a trip odometer which measures the average speed traveled during your ride. Prices start at $29.95.

Bob agrees that cycling has really boomed in the last few years. When asked to what he attributes this to, he gives a variety of reasons. As he states, bicycles started off as a tool. A way to get from one place to another. But they were not much fun. "Finally, the manufacturers decided to listen to the consumer. People value their leisure time and will spend money as long as it's fun. Cycling is now fun!"

The newer bikes are designed for comfort and fun. Aluminum bikes, because of their lighter weight, provide a smoother ride with reduced road shock that you might feel from the older heavier models. Mountain bikes are also popular. They have the wider tires for a more comfortable ride, as opposed to the thinner racing tires which are designed purely for speed.

So why go to a specialty shop such as B&G's? As Bob states, the selection is much better. In their store, they carry various sizes of the same bike giving you a customized fit. "The larger department stores are great at selling the product, but not at servicing. They don't even have the tools. Here we are service oriented. Each new bike comes complete with a service agreement ensuring your happiness with it, and thus a worry-free season of cycling."

B&G's Cyclery has a full service repair shop with professionally trained and certified mechanics to service all makes and models. The repairs are done on the premises and are usually done on the same/next day. They are located at 1421 Cedar Lake Rd. in Round Lake.

Bob and "the girls" invite you to stop in, browse and ask questions. They sponsor a yearly Safety Day/Rodeo and are happy to provide scouting education/safety tours through their shop.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Lincolnshire

Coldwell Banker Commercial Real Estate Services has announced that Allstate Insurance Co. of Northbrook, one of the nation's largest insurers, has leased an 84,056-square-foot new industrial warehouse at 595 Shelter Rd. in Lincolnshire, for startup of a new computer output distribution center. Located on a 5.9 acre site within the Lincolnshire Corporate Center development, the free-standing building houses 9,057 square feet of modern office space for support staff. It was developed by and is owned by Valenti Builders of Northfield.

Libertyville

Don Jones and George Young, both of Libertyville, were named 1989 Midwest Region Rookies of the Year by Midas International Corp. at the company's annual conference held in Phoenix, Ariz. The Regional Rookie of the Year award recognizes Midas franchisees who have displayed exceptional performance and dedication to delivering the "Midas Promise" of customer satisfaction during their first year of operation. Young and Jones attribute much of their success to the hard work of their families and employees. "If it wasn't for our team's continued support and hard work, we would not have earned this recognition," says Jones.

Round Lake

A third quarter loss of $383 million is a major force behind the reduction of 750 employees over the next 18 months at Baxter International's manufacturing plant in Round Lake. Despite a sales increase of 7 percent over the first quarter of 1989, Baxter officials said they suffered the loss because of a pre-tax charge against earnings of $566 million to cover the cost of restructuring.

Lake Zurich

C. Richard Anderson, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist., has announced that the district's Youth Conservation Corps. Program has received a grant of $1,500 from the State Bank of Lake Zurich. These funds will be used for salaries to provide summer jobs for Lake County youth between the ages of 16 and 18. The 30 youth selected to work in the program will be involved in restoration and development projects throughout the County Forest Preserves. The lottery to select workers for this year's program will be held on Saturday, May 12 at 9 a.m. at District Headquarters. Youth interested in applying for the lottery drawing should contact the district's personnel office by calling (708)367-6640 for applications.

Grayslake

Lester's Material Service, Inc. will be celebrating its official Grand Opening May 10 through May 13. The ribbon cutting ceremony will be held Thursday, May 10 at 10 a.m. at Lester's, 875 S. Rte. 83, Grayslake, which is on the southeast corner of Rtes. 83 and 137. This will be the Grand Opening of a new 12,000-square-foot Hardware Wholesalers, Inc. affiliated hardware store.

Gurnee

M.W. Doran, Inc., of Gurnee, announced its donation of $1,000 to the Illinois Chapter of The Nature Conservancy. M.W. Doran, Inc. is a residential general contractor. The company is currently working in Providence Villages in Gurnee and Daybreak Farms in Libertyville. In making the donation, the corporation wanted to show its support for responsible conservation of Illinois' natural resources.

From top to bottom with Iowa, Hawaii

It was still possible to buy an average-priced home for under $50,000 in 1989. Two states recorded average selling prices below $50,000 last year - Iowa, the lowest in the nation at $48,883, and Oklahoma at $49,653.

It was also possible to spend more than $225,000 for the average-priced home; Hawaii recorded an average selling price of $228,983 last year. Hawaii's average home price was more than $50,000 ahead of the second most expensive state, Massachusetts, at $175,851.

The average state housing prices are based on more than 450,000 homes sold in 1989 by the 6,000 offices that comprise the Century 21® residential real estate system in the United States.

A total of 40 states had a lower average selling price than the national average of $100,204 recorded by the Century 21 system in the U.S. Seven of the 10 states with a higher average were contiguous along the east coast - New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Connecticut, Vermont and Massachusetts.

Twelve states recorded

1989 average selling prices between $50,000 and $59,999. In this group, North Dakota had the lowest average at $51,404, followed in ascending order by South Dakota, Arkansas, Idaho, Montana, Kansas, West Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nebraska, Missouri and Wyoming.

An additional 11 states recorded averages between $60,000 and $69,999. In ascending order they were, Utah, Oregon, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Ohio, Minnesota, Texas, Colorado and Michigan.

Every state that had an average price in excess of $100,000 either bordered or was within 150 miles of an ocean. Of all the states that bordered an ocean, only Oregon, with an average price of $61,435, was in the lower half of average prices for all states.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

A favorite question often posed by investors is, "What's the market going to do?" Other than "fluctuate," the only truthful answer is, "I don't know."

The public, however, spends millions of dollars annually on financial publications and spends hours watching programs that claim to know what the market's going to do. When financial news limits itself to what the market did, fine. When it starts predicting what it will do, beware.

Because no one can accurately predict what the market is going to do, short-term market timing is a pure gamble. Long-term investors don't buy a stock, they buy a company. The stock market is just a place where the transaction is made.

The astute investor uses market corrections as buying opportunities. Of course, few investors are confident enough to buy on a downturn because they figure the market will probably go lower.

Since no one really knows what the market's going to do, buy a variety of stocks in solid-value companies and leave the guessing to the market timers.

Int. Minerals & Chemical Corp. changes name

IMCERA has been chosen as the new name for International Minerals & Chemical Corp., formerly headquartered in Libertyville, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer George D. Kennedy announced.

"International Minerals & Chemical Corporation" no longer describes what we do," Kennedy said. "We've changed from a commodity chemical producer to a builder of technology businesses in human and animal health care and specialty chemicals.

"We selected the name for pragmatic rather than promotional reasons; we already owned the name," he said. "It was ours to use without waste of time and money causing something to be 'created.'"

"The new name incorporates 'IMC' to remind people of who we were; the last half describes where we are heading — a new era for IMC," Kennedy added.

"We understand what counts in building a solid reputation. IMCERA will mean something only if we achieve good results from our new businesses. If we don't, no amount of promotion will offset that," Kennedy said.

IMCERA is cast in a bold and modern typeface and is followed by a striking, yellow logo which suggests growth.

The company's present name has been in effect since Dec. 1, 1941, and, prior to that, had been International Agricultural Corp. since its founding in 1909 as a New York corporation. IMC has been headquartered in the Chicago area since 1942. The corporate home now is in Northbrook.

IMC acquired Mallinckrodt, Inc., in 1986 and, later that year, sold its industrial products and gas and oil businesses. Two years later, the company sold a majority of its interest in the fertilizer business to the public as IMC Fertilizer Group, Inc., and currently retains only 38 percent of the latter's common stock.

More than $1.5 billion in cash was generated from these transactions which was used to invest in new product development, manufacturing expansion, strategic acquisitions, and the repurchase of IMC common stock.

IMC's three businesses, Mallinckrodt Medical, Mallinckrodt Specialty Chemicals and Pitman Moore of Mundelein, are estimated to have combined net sales in fiscal 1990 ending June 30 of $1.4 billion.

Mallinckrodt Medical, with estimated 1990 net sales of $390 million, is a major supplier of products for radiology, cardiology, anesthesiology, nuclear medicine and critical care. Its products are sold in over 100 countries and are used by more than 7,000 U.S. health care facilities.

Mallinckrodt Specialty Chemicals, with estimated 1990 net sales of $440 million, is an international manufacturer of drug and cosmetic chemicals, catalyst and performance chemicals, science products and flavors.

Pitman-Moore, with estimated 1990 sales of $560 million, is one of the world's leading animal health and nutrition companies, manufacturing a broad line of products for livestock, poultry and companion animals.

Shareholders will be asked to approve the new name, IMCERA Group Inc., at a special meeting on June 14. If approved, the company's stock will trade under the new name and the proposed symbol "IMA" on the New York, Midwest and Pacific Stock Exchanges, effective in mid-June. Until then, the company will continue to trade under the ticker symbol IGL.

Lakeland passengers set for 'ride'

by DENNIS AND MARY O'BRIEN
(708)724-7354

Besides congeniality and comfort on the motorcoach, members of the Lakeland Newspapers Nashville Bash Tour will find a scenic delight in the journey down to Nashville on May 24-27.

You'll stay on US-65 all the way and the view out the window really will get interesting after lunch. First you'll go through the rolling hills, farmland and forests of southern Indiana.

After crossing the Ohio River, you're in Louisville, Ky. After that, it's horse country. And, yes, that's really tobacco growing in the fields.

For more than 200 years, horses have been part of Kentucky's rich tradition. Today, central Kentucky's bluegrass region is known as the Horse Capital of the World.

You'll see why as you pass countless white-fenced fields where sleek horses savor the new spring growth.

Saddle horses, show horses, race horses - some are retired champions, other just beginning their training and, at this time of year, you'll see frisky, new colts learning to navigate on those impossibly long legs.

This is horse country because horses thrive on the native Kentucky bluegrass - which, by the way, is a rich, velvety green. But in spring, the buds have a bluish color that, when seen in large fields, give a lube cast to the grass. Give a blue cast to the grass.

Tonight, the Lakeland Newspaper group is invited to dinner, and tomorrow, you'll be in Nashville. But for the first hours of your tour, enjoy the ride.

Gaping Maw returns to Adler

The Gaping Maw, a quartet that performs traditional songs and music from Ireland and Scotland, makes a return appearance at the David Adler Cultural Center at 8 p.m., on Saturday, April 28.

Patrick and Brigid Malone, Tracey Lee Roberts and James Terry emphasize unaccompanied songs in Gaelic and English, ranging from Irish "mouth music" to the "Waukings songs" of the Outer Hebrides.

In addition, the Malones play on a tin whistle and bodhran tunes they collected during the years they lived in Ireland.

Also appearing is Raymond Podboy, who plays the button box accordion he learned while growing up in a Slovenian community in south Waukegan.

Film Review

Alex Baldwin is one comparatively new actor who should be winning honors for sheer visibility with "Miami Blues" his eighth major movie in less than two years.

But unlike some of his others, "Working Girl" and "The Search For Red October," his performance in this one, not only won't be bringing any kudos, but is almost best forgotten. How can such a good actor turn in such a hokey performance?

The movie concerns a real nut case who gets out of prison, decides to give leading a normal family life with prostitute Jennifer Jason Leigh a try, then flips and pretends to be a cop with lots of violence thrown in.

Here we have a few comic highs combined with a crazy mixed-up plot that add up to primarily a waste of time.

Next summer, when all the tv reruns start, if it rains a lot, this might be worthwhile on a two for one vcr rental.

Let's give it two out of five stars.

TV Tidbits

In checking on some of the new mid-season television debuts, we found "Wings," which comes from the people that have been bringing us "Cheers" for many years, to be a refreshing new sitcom.

This story of two estranged brothers trying to make a small airline fly has great possibilities. This one has already shown it has two of the ingredients for a hit sitcom, clever writing and a good unique cast of characters.

NBC has a new entry in the legal relay in "Shannon's Deal."

This legal error is about as clever and should be as long lasting as "The Young Lawyers," of bygone(thank goodness) days was.

Speaking of bygone series, Bob Newhart's second successful series is about to say bye bye. We're going to miss Larry and his two brothers, Darryl.

There are a lot of bets out there that "Knots Landing" and "Falcon Crest" may not be in next fall's lineup.

Video Votes

Patrick Swayze's version of a country boy turned city cop in "Next of Kin" didn't do that well at the boxoffice but it's worth video prices.

Swayze's acting is mediocre, but he is still likeable and sexy.

"A Dry White Season" has legendary actors Marlon Brando and Donald Sutherland the standouts in this story of white and black in Africa and apartheid's effect on both.

Worth big theater prices, this one is bargain, meaningful entertainment on video. Brando's cameo appearance is worth the rental price alone.

They've taken the award-winning "Working Girl" and made it into a weekly series. This is a fluffy bit of entertainment that could be digestible when one is in the mood. The first shows, though weak, are still based on the successful movie plot. The proof of the pudding will pop up when the plot has to spread past the movie's end.

Paul Newman's "Fat Man and Little Boy" lagged on the big screen but this story of the atom bomb and the Los Alamos testing is good video fare. The script is weak but the acting top notch.

Country music at Opera House

The internationally known country music group, The Whites, will be presented in concert at 8 p.m., on Friday, May 4, at the Woodstock Opera House, Woodstock. The core of the group consists of Buck White and daughters Cheryl and Sharon. With Buck on piano and mandolin, Sharon on acoustic guitar and Cheryl on bass, they are augmented by younger sister Rosie on percussion and harmony vocals. Having appeared in 15 countries, The Whites have been nominated for Grammy and Country Music Awards.

ing actual portions of the structure that for years had separated East Germany from West. And they were for sale in Waukegan, IL for $8.97 a box.

George Bennett, Asst. Store Manager said that Hyman Products, a company known for carrying unique items, had air freighted over a ton of the wall from Berlin. He said that they were good sellers, especially around Christmas time, (they made great stocking stuffers).

The other day, I was shopping at Service Merchandise with the kids. I looked over, and there on a table, were pieces of the Berlin Wall. I'm not kidding - little rectangular boxes containing actual portions of the structure that for years had separated East Germany from West. And they were for sale in Waukegan, IL for $8.97 a box.

George Bennett, Asst. Store Manager said that Hyman Products, a company known for carrying unique items, had air freighted over a ton of the wall from Berlin. He said that they were good sellers, especially around Christmas time, (they made great stocking stuffers).

It's a little ironic. Communist countries have always feared and criticized Democracy and Free Enterprise because they believed that these systems tended to capitalize on everything too much. Eventually it spoiled things.

Growing industries empty their waste into the world's water and airways. Big businesses cut down too many trees in the Brazilian rain forest and upset the world's ecosystem. Convenient styrofoam packaging lingers in landfills because they are not biodegradable. And tankers from large corporations accidentally spill miles of oil into Alaskan waters suffocating many animals. All these things are true. They happen.

But when you stop and think about it, these same Communist countries never viewed anything very optimistically. And for decades, their economies have not flourished. Most of their workers are not motivated. After all, what do they have to look forward to? There are no individual incentives. Their families cannot purchase new home.s, enjoy nice vacations, better themselves. Most cannot even pick up a newspaper and get to read both sides of an issue.

These people spend a sad percentage of their lives in line for something. They wait for milk, bread, meat, potatoes and even toilet paper. When they reach the front of the line, that item may not even be around.

And here I was in Service Merchandise able to key into the "Silent Sam" computer and ask for as many boxes full of the Berlin Wall as I wanted. Then I would just step over to the conveyor belt, pay for the product, and be on my way. What a country - only in America!

Conditions are changing in Communist countries. Evidently enough people have seen the light, even if it's just a faint glimmer.

I guess Democracy and Free Enterprise are kind of like nature. There is a fine balance between enjoyment of our resources and abuse. But we are still a highly motivated society where anything is possible, like a McDonald's in Moscow or the sale of the Berlin Wall.

So maybe we should all buy a box full. Just to remind us that barriers can be torn down - between countries, races and sometimes people. And that even from something as negative as the Berlin Wall, something positive can be gained.

Shaine intends to soc(cer) it to 'em in Europe

by GLORIA DAVIS

Lakeland Newspapers

Shaine Hoskins, 14, resident of Lindenhurst, who is in eighth grade at Antioch Upper Grade School, has been nominated by the Stars 'N Stripes International Soccer Tours to be a member of one of their international touring soccer teams.

If Shaine is able to represent his country as a member of this international sports team, he will be playing in Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Holland from July 14 to Aug. 5.

But in order to be a part of this summer's international soccer tour, Shaine must pay for the cost of his trip to Europe, approximately $3,000.

Shaine is trying to raise the money by soliciting sponsors who will make donations towards the $3,000. At press time he was still in need of $1,000.

Anyone who wants to help sponsor this local soccer player can mail check donations either to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins, 506 Northgate Rd., Lindenhurst, IL, 60046, or to the Stars 'N Stripes International Soccer Tours, 540 S. Mendenhall, Suite 12-129, Memphis, Tenn., 38117 with Shaine's name on the donation.

Shaine Hoskins

Shaine has been interested in sports most of his 14 years. He is in the AUG's track program, but soccer is his real love.

He started playing soccer with the Lindenhurst Soccer League when he was seven years old, so he's an old hand at it. He was a key player on AUG's 1989 soccer team, and he has been playing on the Lindenhurst traveling team for the last three years.

"I have found Shaine to be eager to learn and very responsive to coaching," says his Lindenhurst Coach Keith Johnson who adds that Shaine's teammates respect him.

"He has demonstrated superior skill and and strong potential," says Sharon Sorlie, his coach at AUGs.

Shaine wants all those who donate to this sporting cause to know that their donations to this are tax deductible and a listing of the donors will be included in the 1919 edition of the "Stars and Stripes" handbook.

Mom Likes To Cook

By Randee Rian

Delicious, inviting salads! Nothing is easier on the cook than simple-to-make, light and refreshing salads.

In an age fascinated by both fitness and good food, salads have naturally come into their own. The abundance and variety of produce in our markets provide continuing inspiration.

Try some of these delightful salads...save the recipes and use this summer to cool down the heat.

Twisted pasta salad

Bacon, crispy-cooked and fresh carrots, celery and green onions season this pasta salad. The dressing is great with a hint of honey and sprinkling of toasted sliced almonds.

- 4 qt. water
- 2 cup dry curled-pasta twists

- 2 Tbl. sliced almonds
- 1/4 cup firmly packed chopped bacon
- 1/3 cup mayonnaise
- 1 Tbl. honey
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/2 cup shredded carrot
- 1 thinly sliced green onion

In a 5 to 6 quart pan over high heat, bring water to boiling; stir in past. Cook, uncovered, until pasta is tender to bite, about 8 to 10 minutes; drain. Rinse in cold running water until pasta is cool, about 2 minutes; drain and set aside.

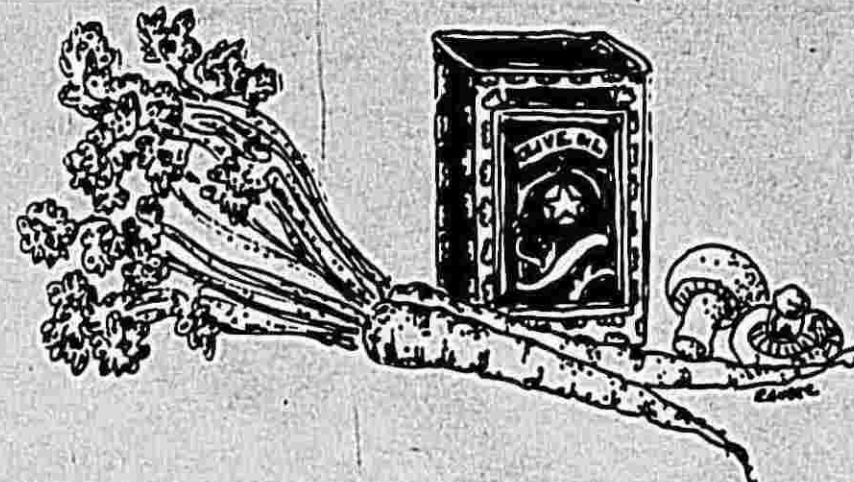

Meanwhile, in a 10 to 12-inch frying pan over medium heat, cook almonds, stirring until light golden, 6 to 8 minutes. Pour from pan and set aside. Add bacon to pan and cook, stirring often, until browned. Drain on paper towels.

In a large bowl, stir together mayonnaise, honey and pepper. Add pasta, bacon, celery, carrots and onion; stir to coat evenly with dressing. Sprinkle with toasted almonds. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Guacamole pasta salad

Fresh vegetables blend with curls of brightly-colored pasta on lettuce. Tasty with fresh beans, carrots and avocado.

- 3 Tbl. lemon juice
- butter lettuce leaves, washed and crisped
- 1 large ripe avocado
- salt and pepper

water

- 1 cup mixed colors dry spiral-shape pasta
- 1/2 lb. green beans, ends trimmed, cut into 1-inch lengths.
- 1 small carrot, chopped
- 3 Tbl.-minced onion
- 1 Tbl. salad oil

Fill a 2 to 3 quart pan 3/4 full of water and bring to a boil over high heat. Add pasta and boil until just tender to bite, about 5 minutes. Drain and let cool.

Meanwhile, in a 1 to 2 quart pan, bring 1/4 inch water to a boil over high heat. Add beans and carrot; cover simmer until beans are tender-crisp to bite, about 4 minutes. Drain, let cool. In a bowl combine pasta, beans and carrot, onion, oil and 1 Tbl. of the lemon juice. Arrange in equal portions on lettuce leaves on 4 salad plates. Pit, peel and mash avocado with remaining lemon juice. Spoon equal portions on to salads. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serves four.

Great America sets season opening with benefit

Bugs Bunny™ will be the official Master of Ceremonies as he cuts the ribbon when the Six Flags Great America theme park opens for its 15th season of family fun, Saturday, April 28.

A special balloon launch will help kick off the excitement the 1990 season promises with the new stand-up sensation, Iron Wolf and the Bugs Bunny 50th Birthday Celebration.

Highlighting the opening weekend will be a promotion benefiting the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse (NCPA). Special NCPA

Great America will make a donation to NCPA.

NCPA is a non-profit volunteer based organization with chapters in all 50 states and the Dist. of Columbia. NCPA and their affiliates share a common mission - a nationwide commitment to end child abuse in all of its forms.

During the two day event the park will be open

Saturday and Sunday, April 28 and 29 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Great America is located midway between Milwaukee and Chicago on I-94 at Rte. 132 (Grand Ave.) exit in Gurnee.

Getting from the airport in a strange city

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Did you ever find yourself paying more for your cab fare from the airport to your hotel than you did for your air ticket? I've come pretty close in some cities!

You most likely searched for the lowest airfare and the best value in a hotel that suits your needs. If you were going to rent a car to get to that hotel, you probably would have looked for the car rental company offering the best deal.

Why not carry that investigation a little further if you are relying upon other means to get you from the airport?

Taking a car is the most convenient, but the most costly, way of getting to your hotel. However, there are ways to save money here, too.

Many cab companies have "shared" rates. As the name implies, you may have to share your cab with others going in the same direction as yourself. Not only do you save money, but you get to meet new people! Ask at the airport information counter if such rates are available, and at which cab stand you should wait.

If you are not going with a shared rate, investigate before you leave as to what the car fare should be.

O.K., now I'm going to tell you how I get from the airport in a strange city. Most major airports offer airport shuttles to downtown hotels. No, I'm not suggesting that you try and board a crowded New York bus with your oversized suitcase! These are privately owned vans that operate between the airport and the main hotels at very reasonable rates and are equipped to handle lots of luggage. For instance, in Detroit a cab ride from the airport to downtown is about $30. Hop on Kirby Vans, with service every 30 minutes, and you pay $9.

Look into this before you leave home. Arriving at a strange airport with your hands full of luggage is not the time to look for the best deal in ground transportation.

Senior Festival and Exposition to be held May 11 and 12

The Midwest's largest Senior Festival and Exposition will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday, May 11 and Saturday, May 12 at the Rockford MetroCentre. According to Ed Portillo, executive director of the Winnebago County Council on Aging, this year's show will be the biggest and best ever. The show has no admission charge and the parking in the MetroCentre ramp is free.

The event will draw more than 10,000 seniors, pre-retirees and their families during its two-day run. The visitors will "shop" over 100 exhibitors, participate in health screenings, attend lectures, and be entertained.

The information presented by the exhibitors will cover a wide range of interesting topics. Advertising Director Claire Longie, has been working with businesses and non-profit organizations and feels that this year's show will offer even more variety than in previous years. Included in the list of exhibitors will be: financial institutions giving information on investment and retirement planning, insurance companies, hospitals and home health care agencies, travel agencies, retirement living facilities, state and local agencies who provide services to seniors, legal services, social services, arts and crafts, and much more.

The event is co-sponsored by Swedish American Hospital and Brookside Medical Group.

This year eight health screenings will be offered to people 55 and older. "This is the largest number of health screenings we have ever offered," says Nancy Garry, assistant director of Brookside Medical Group. "We will offer skin cancer assessment, vision, dental, blood pressure, computerized cancer risk assessment and diet counseling free of charge. Cholesterol and blood sugar testing will be done in conjunction with the Illinois Dept. of Health for a small fee."

The following lectures will be offered during the Senior Festival and Exposition. On Friday, May 11 at 11 a.m., Joe Corsolini, R.P.H., will speak on "Over the counter and generic medications;" 1 p.m., Atty. Mary Krick from the Prairie State Legal Services, will offer advice on "Preparing a living will;" 3 p.m., Betty Johnson, Energy and Environmental Specialist, will address the issue of "Toxics in your home and community."

On Sunday, May 12 at 11 a.m., Sally Welch, fitness specialist, Swedish American Hospital, will present a fitness program designed specifically for seniors; 1 p.m., Ron Coffer, R.P.H., Swedish American Hospital will speak on "Taking your medication wisely." Wood has put together a lecture series that she feels will be interesting and informational.

This year's entertainment will be highlighted by a senior fashion show on Friday, May 11 at 2:30 p.m. The fashion show will be presented by the J.C. Penny Co., and will feature seniors dressed in the latest fashions for sport and dressy occasions. The Old Timers Chimers, a bell choir, and the Senior Chorale will also perform on Friday.

Saturday performers will include square dancers, Dixieland Docs and the students from the Creative and Performing Arts Program of the Rockford Public Schools.

Good health, positive attitude make senior years more fun

It's no secret that today's seniors are more vibrant, active, interested and interesting than ever. As the American population continues to age, the "youth culture" that has been a dominant force for so long in advertising, movies, television, literature and so forth is beginning to be replaced by images of people well past their teens or twenties.

Health care, social security, age discrimination, and retirement planning have become hot topics. Seniors have become a powerful social and political force, and they are using their new-found power to fight for the causes that are important to them.

The prevailing image of the senior citizen is no longer that of grandmother baking cookies for her grandchildren, or grandfather spending his days in the porch rocking chair reminiscing about the good old days. The mature years are increasingly seen as a time to begin a new, fulfilling phase of life.

Today's seniors travel, volunteer, go back to school, start new careers or open their own businesses, run for office or run in marathons, ride around the country on motorcycles, or in hot air balloons! In short, if you dreamed about doing something when you were 20 (but were prevented from pursuing your dream by career or family obligations), there's no reason you can't do it in your seventies!

If you're getting ready to retire, the idea of all this activity may seem exhausting. After giving your all in the workplace for so many years, you may think you really are ready for the rocking chair.

But chances are, after a few weeks of rest and relaxation, you'll find yourself feeling bored, restless, and ready for new challenges.

The key to an active, productive, happy retirement is good health and a positive attitude. If you're ready to go scuba diving in the Caribbean or on a photo safari in Kenya, you have the right attitude. And studies show that good health can be achieved at any age.

Even if you've never exercised in your life, it's not too late to start a fitness program. Exercise will improve your health, your looks, and your mental state. And who knows, in a year or two, you may be ready to run a marathon!

Older drivers need new techniques

Experience alone doesn't guarantee a safe trip for an older driver. What once was a short, easy drive to the supermarket, may now be a challenging trip.

"In over 40-plus years of driving, we 'older drivers' have seen tremendous changes in our cars and highways, yet we may not have recognized changes in ourselves," says Jim Williams, a health and safety expert for the Country Companies, an insurance and investment group.

Aging causes physical changes that can seriously affect driving skills. The most common change is a reduction in visual perception.

"Driving is a complex skill which relies heavily on our visual abilities," says Williams. "At least 90 percent of the decisions we make as drivers rely on our sight."

Because eyesight deteriorates with age, medical conditions such as macular degeneration, cataracts and glaucoma are common among older people. This deterioration can significantly affect driving skills. Williams advises drivers over age 55 to get regular eye exams for prompt diagnosis and treatment of any eye problems. This advice could save a person's vision and ability to drive.

Most changes in eyesight can be corrected with glasses or contact lenses. However, drivers with eye problems that can't be corrected need to adjust their driving habits to compensate for such changes.

Many older drivers also have problems adapting to changes in light, the Country Companies safety expert points out.

"Drivers who are 'glare sensitive' should keep a minimum three-second interval between their car and the car ahead of them to give their eyes time to recover from the glare," Williams says.

He also recommends that glare-sensitive drivers wear quality sunglasses with glare-reducing gray lenses during the day and avoid looking directly at oncoming headlights at night.

Depth perception is another visual ability which usually diminishes with age. To compensate for this loss, Williams says drivers should allow more distance between their car and any oncoming vehicles when passing or turning left.

"Night vision, which starts to decline around age 40, can be impaired by smoking while driving," the Country Companies safety expert warns. "The carbon monoxide in cigarette smoke can interfere with your eyes' ability to adapt to the darkness. It can also fog the windshield, making it difficult to see what is happening on the road."

Drivers who have impaired night vision should avoid driving at night if possible, Williams says. However, if driving is necessary, he suggests maintaining a minimum four-second interval between your car and the car in front of you.

Another problem among older drivers is a decline in peripheral vision. "Drivers can compensate for this loss by checking blind spots and their side and rear view mirrors frequently," Williams says.

"Drivers who wear glasses should avoid styles with wide frames or earpieces which can also interfere with peripheral vision."

Some addition tips for helping impaired vision are keeping windows, mirrors, headlights and taillights clean. Dirt on a car's headlights can cut the illumination power by as much as 70 percent, according to the Country Companies safety expert.

Hearing and reflexes, two other abilities that may decline with age, are also essential to safety driving. Hearing loss can make it difficult to hear emergency sirens or warning honks from other drivers, Williams explains. Receiving regular hearing exams, wearing hearing aids and checking the rear view mirror more frequently are a few things drivers can do to compensate for hearing loss.

He says better judgement and more mature driving styles are ways to compensate for slower reflexes.

Antioch, Patriots see plusses after twinbill

It was the kind of day doubleheaders were meant to be played in.

Three weeks of cold, rainy weather gave way to sunny skies Saturday at Stevenson High School. And when it was all said and done, both Antioch and Stevenson's teams could have positives to point toward after a mid-morning of effort.

Antioch's squad had more of the positives after the 14-2, 3-2 verdicts gave the Sequoits three wins in four North Suburban Conference games. For Stevenson, the one-run loss in the second game marked the second time in three games the Pats had lost by the slim margin.

"This was our first doubleheader and by the middle innings of the second game the girls were tired of softball," Antioch Coach Judy Smithhisler said.

While Antioch may not have had the power at the plate it had in game one, the nightcap featured some defensive highlights that helped save the sweep.

In the seventh inning, Christie Otterbein hit a deep shot to left center. She rounded first, and headed for second, but Antioch center fielder Kelly Pramshafer rifled a throw to second just in time.

Robyn Osterman then reached base on an infield hit but was caught stealing. Christine Piggott walked to keep the inning going, but pitcher Kelly Damron got the final out on a fly ball.

"We rely on our defense," Smithhisler said.

Stevenson dropped to 1-8 overall, 0-4 in the NSC with the doubleheader loss, but Coach Larry Friedrichs had praise for second game relief pitcher Eileen Olifiers. Antioch was held scoreless for the last three innings.

Jenny Harris had two hits for Antioch in the second game.

Antioch led 2-0 after one as Harris, Kathy Glenn singled and scored on an error.

In the third, Antioch tallied on a Harris single, an error and a sacrifice fly by Pramshafer.

Stevenson answered in the fourth and fifth innings.

Danielle Morse singled and later scored on a wild pitch.

In the fifth inning, Otterbein doubled and later scored on an error.

The opener, delayed because of wet grounds, was all Antioch.

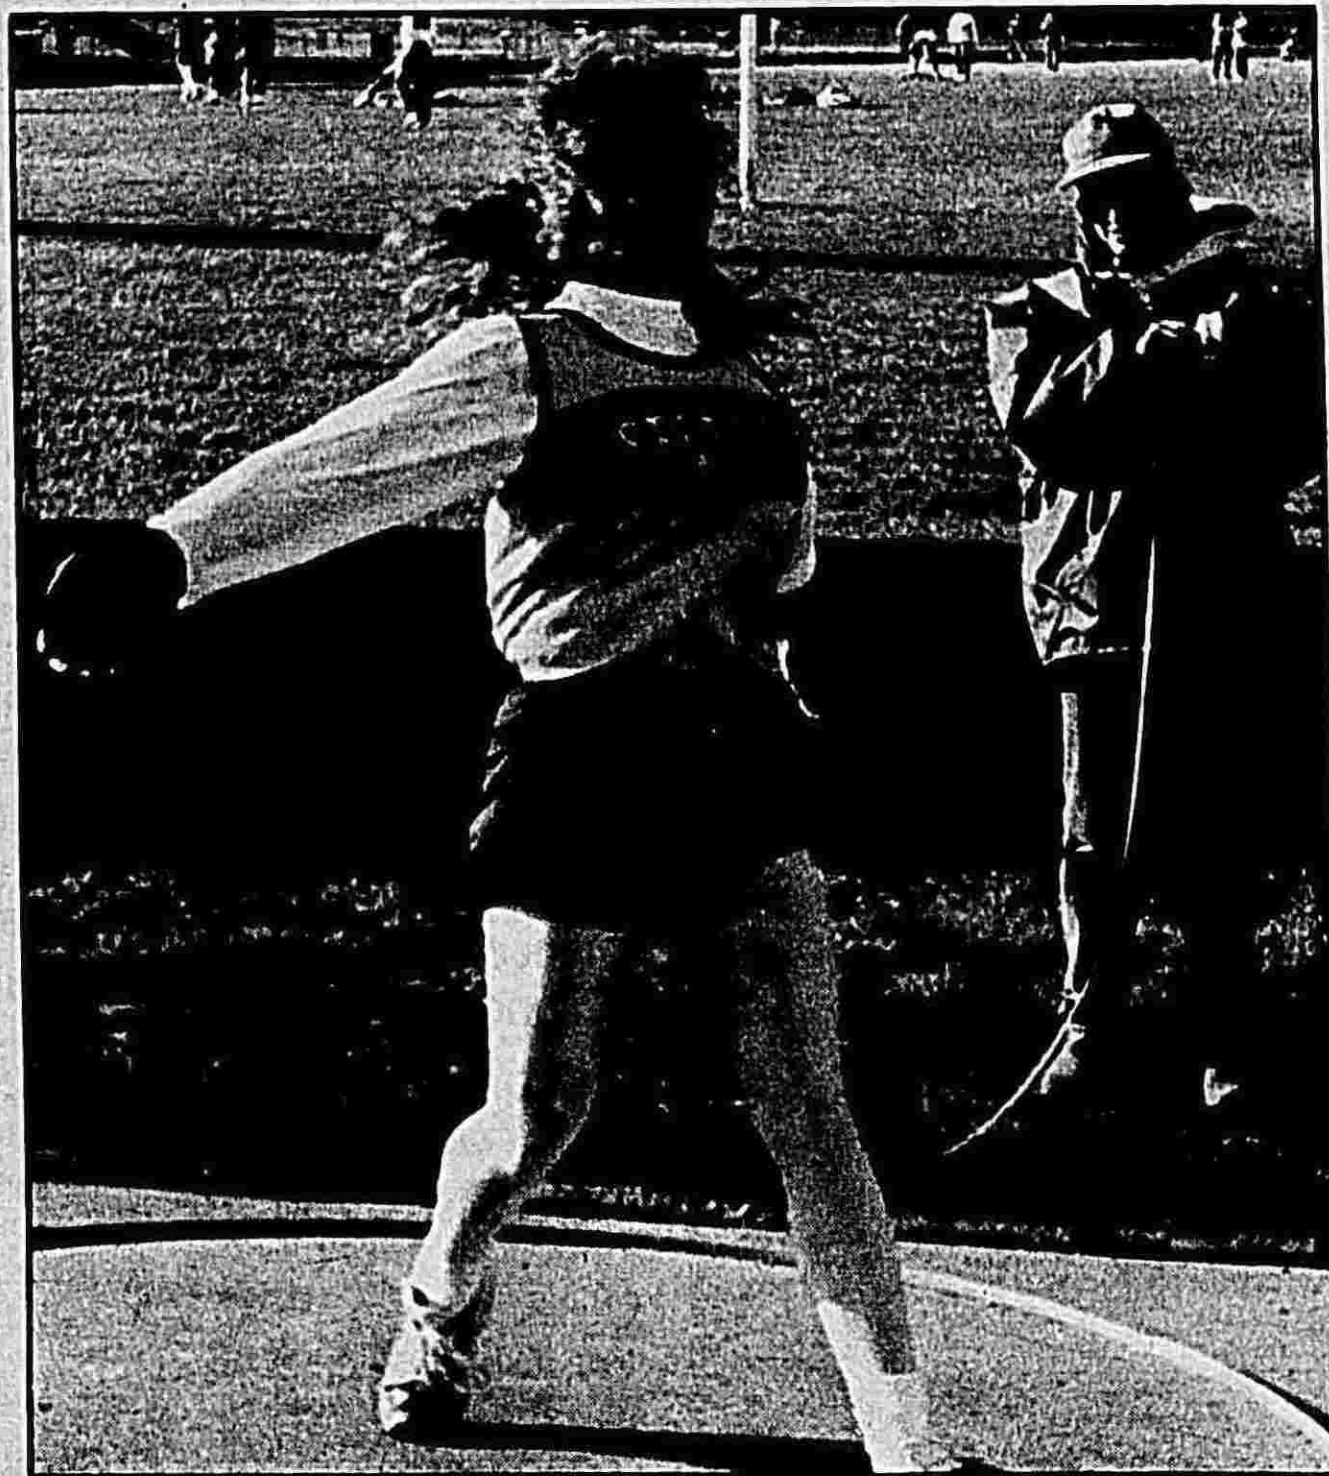

First baseman Linda Stark had four hits, two doubles. Harris also had two hits.

Antioch scored six runs in the first two innings, taking advantage of four walks and an error by the Pats.

A seven-run fifth inning which saw 12 batters go to the plate sealed the win.

Piggott had an RBI double for Stevenson.

Antioch battles defending NSC champ Mundelein May 1 and 3, away and home, while Stevenson battles Fenton home and away.

Showing concentration

Patriots sweep Sequoits to stay in NSC hunt

One baseball coach was left asking why while another was looking for better performances following the Antioch-Stevenson North Suburban Conference doubleheader Saturday.

Antioch Coach Gregg Decker is the coach asking why his team cannot come up with the simple plays following 10-2, 15-5 losses at Stevenson.

"It was a good, solid job. He did what he needed to do," Stevenson Coach Bob Mackey said of Rex Eaman's first-game pitching. Eaman struck out nine Antioch hitters in the game which was never in doubt.

Offensively for Stevenson, Mark Robich was two-for-two with two RBIs, Eaman helped his own cause with two-for-four with two RBIs and Boomer Whipple was also two-for-four. The home team took charge early in this one, scoring five runs on a hot Saturday afternoon in the first inning.

Mark LeGrand garnered his first win of the season in the second game and he, too, helped his own cause with a three-for-three day.

A strong start also helped the Patriots in the second game. The home team led 6-0 in the first inning but Antioch bounced back to within 6-5.

The wins improved Stevenson to 4-2 in the NSC, 10-7 overall. The Pats faced Niles North in NSC play this week.

The NSC slate featured a doubleheader sweep Saturday of Libertyville by Lake Forest, establishing the Scouts as the team to beat. "We're in the hunt," Mackey said.

For Antioch, the week was a one step forward, two steps back proposition.

"I don't know how I feel. You can't win with 15 errors," Antioch Coach Decker said of the doubleheader.

Decker said the team continues to stress fundamentals during its practices.

"I know the kids are trying," Decker said. He said he has tried to put fun back into the game for the team. However, Antioch has committed some 80 errors thus far this season.

Decker cited a possible lack of concentration as one reason behind the 15 losses in 17 games. "When you are 2-15, no one is putting pressure on you," he said.

Antioch did register its second win of the season with a 4-2 verdict over Zion-Benton.

Sophomore Keith Lindblom was the winning pitcher in that contest, as he had three strikeouts in facing 33 batters. "He did an outstanding job," Decker said.

Dave Gaida was three-for-four with a home run in pacing Antioch's nine-hit attack. "We had some clutch hitting," Decker said.

Jon DeBernardis and Dan Lamb had two-for-three games against the Zee-Bees.

The Sequoits will battle Niles North in an away NSC doubleheader April 28. The Sequoits hosted Warren April 26.

Netters win in shutout, fall in close NSC match

Antioch Community High School's tennis team will be looking to continue North Suburban Conference success when the Sequoits battle Stevenson and Niles North next week.

Antioch, which faces Round Lake April 30 before the Stevenson match May 1 and the Niles North battle May 3, split two NSC matches last week. Antioch swept Mundelein 5-0 but was edged by Fenton 3-2. Tuesday, Antioch lost to McHenry 5-2 in a non-conference battle.

Against Mundelein, Eric Cittadino downed Eric Sodderman at number one singles 6-0, 6-0 and Drew Johnson beat John Newton by the same score.

In doubles, Brian Hovey and Chris Griffin topped Sebastian Brozer and Dave Hartkopf 6-2, 6-1 at number one. At second doubles, Scott Hannack and Jason Masek downed Dave Bosio and Dan Trahan 6-1, 6-0.

At third doubles, Warren Reginer and Scott Cittadino swept Dave Burton and Tim Zack 6-0, 6-0.

Fenton won the first two singles positions as Doug Daniels downed Hannack 6-2, 6-2. Barry Tebel downed Masek in a three-set battle 6-2, 5-7 and 6-2.

Eric Cittadino and Johnson downed John Yew and Soon Hwang 6-12, 6-0.

At second doubles, Griffin and Hovey won over Jeff Mantinker and John Silva 6-2, 6-3.

In the deciding third doubles match, the battle went three sets before the Bison's Mike Rice and Sean Oomens 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

Sequoits hold back Warren

Antioch softball pitcher Ginger Skvarc walked the bases loaded in the seventh inning Tuesday against Warren.

But that is when the Antioch pitcher decided to get tough as she struck out three Blue Devils to preserve a 7-3 Antioch win.

"She just buckled down," Antioch Coach Judy Smithhisler said.

The win gave Antioch a 9-1 overall record, 4-1 in the North Suburban Conference.

Wulf prepares to refine soccer skills in Europe

Mike Wulf of Antioch will represent Illinois and the United States as a member of the TEAMS/USA Illinois 15-under select men's soccer team in Europe this July.

TEAMS/USA, a national not-for-profit youth soccer development organization, will take 98 TEAMS/USA select youth soccer teams at the 18, 16, 15 and 14-under age divisions for men and the 17 and 15-under age divisions for women for a 31 day development tour in Europe this July.

The tour begins at training in Holland and Sweden with several days of intensive instruction under Dutch professional coaches who concentrate on the techniques so successful for European clubs. The training offers almost instant development to the athlete as they prepare for tournaments throughout Europe.

Wulf, a freshman at Antioch

Community High School played midfield for the Sequoits. He was one of 5,000 young male and female soccer players from the United States selected to play for TEAMS/USA in 1990. He will join the other 1,399 outstanding young male and female soccer players from the United States to accept the prestigious invitation.

"TEAMS/USA is a select development program, choosing players based not only on their technical ability, but also on their promise in the sport. From our young players to compete successfully in the international arena, they need plenty of solid international competition - they must play at an entirely new level," said Mark Huck, TEAMS/USA Executive Director.

Brian's parents, Ron and Kathleen, as well as Coach Shane Latham, are proud of Brian's accomplishments.

Bay recalls childhood, discusses NCAA issues

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Rick Bay returned to Waukegan last Thursday, he probably took the normal route from O'Hare Airport.

While coming closer to Weis Field, he could not resist the temptation to pull over and walk toward the place where a Waukegan baseball team was conducting a practice. He remembered his youth at the field, and then the smaller diamond which used to be adjacent to the diamond where the Waukegan teams played hardball.

"This place is dear to me," Bay said.

Bay recalled his many fond memories of Waukegan during his well received address as keynote speaker at the third annual Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports

Dinner held at the Country Squire restaurant in Grayslake. Ryan was a well-respected broadcaster in Lake County who lost a 15-month bout with cancer in 1989.

Bay, now athletic director at the University of Minnesota, recalled one of his first goals in sports was to hit a baseball to the track at Weis Field. After not succeeding at this, the young Bay would try hitting golf balls onto the track.

Bay, who gained All-America recognition while a junior at the University of Michigan, also reminisced about his struggles in scoring points in matches against Larry TenPas.

Bay grew up in Waukegan, where his father was varsity wrestling coach and his stepmother an English teacher. He competed in football, baseball, and wrestling, winning a state title his sophomore year. He was Illinois Athlete-of-the Year as a senior.

"We have kids specializing at a young age. I think we are missing something when we ask an eight or nine-year old to make a decision on a sport," Bay said.

He pointed to hockey as an example. In Minnesota, high school hockey draws 16,000 people a session for the state finals and the television rights are sold for $500,000.

Bay, who earlier served as athletic director at Oregon and Ohio State, told of the woes of preparing a budget for a Division I school. At Ohio State, he was in charge of a 31 sport program for men and women and a $21 million budget. At Minnesota, he is responsible for the men's side only, but that total budget is $12 million.

"It makes the athletic director entrepreneurial," Bay said.

At Minnesota, the Golden Gophers' football, hockey and men's basketball must raise enough revenue to pay for the other sports as well. Those sports lose $250,000 in a typical season.

Bay explained in the NCAA tournament, each school that qualifies in the field of 64 teams receives $280,000. That amount grows as the tourney continues, to $1.2 million for the Final Four schools.

"When you are watching a close game and there is two or three seconds left, a free throw could be worth $280,000. That is a lot of pressure to place on a 17-year-old," he said.

"It's difficult to keep the proper perspective," Bay stated.

As far as Penn State's entry into the Big Ten is concerned, Bay criticized the way the Big Ten presidents made the move without consulting the athletic directors. He stressed the invitation is "in principle" and that several issues are being studied. "I hope if we find that there are not enough pluses, that we have the courage to withdraw the invitation," Bay stated.

In terms of eligibility for freshmen athletes, he said he expects decisions on some restrictions to come soon - at least for football and men's basketball.

CLC football camp will feature Ex-Bears

Although the College of Lake County does not have a football team, for at least one day CLC will be the center stage for football players.

Athletic Dir. Curtis Gentry is organizing, with the help of several Lake County football coaches, a clinic at the college June 16. The clinic will be from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

High school players ages 14 through 18 will be able to learn football through some players who have been through the wars. Ex-Bears Marty Amsler, Bob Asher, Charlie Brown, Floyd Butler, Bob Pickens, J.C. Caroline, Robin Earl, Noah Jackson, Jimmy Jones, Bob Avellini, Doug Buffone, and Ronnie Bull, are all expected to appear.

Gentry, a defensive back for the Bears in the 1960's, explained that he keeps track of his former teammates.

The accomplishments of the former Bears include nine-year running back Bull; six-year tight end Earl; linebacker Buffone.

Former Antioch football Coach Steve Wapon will be camp director.

"The kids will be learning a great deal of fundamentals. I don't know of another camp in the country where the pros will be doing the coaching," Gentry said.

The cost of the camp is $55 per camper. For 15 or more campers from an organized football program, the price will be $40 a camper. Applicants must return applications with school's or organization's letterhead. Campers must supply their own equipment - no helmets allowed. Participants will be covered by CLC's athletic insurance and campers will be given a certificate upon completion. A certified athletic trainer will be in attendance.

Gentry said he hopes some 250 campers will attend the first camp in Grayslake. He has bigger plans than that for the camp. He hopes it will become an annual camp, and could lead to camps in other sports at CLC.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: I've read that President Bush has glaucoma. What is glaucoma and is it serious?
ANSWER: President Bush is one of an estimated 2 million people over the age of 35 who has glaucoma. This condition results from an excessive build up of the eye's natural fluid. Under normal circumstances, this fluid keeps the eye from collapsing. As fresh fluid is produced, the excess drains out through a meshwork of tissue. If this drainage path is blocked, pressure builds and begins to damage the optic nerve which carries visual images from the eye to the brain. If left untreated, peripheral or side vision is gradually lost, leaving the glaucoma victim with "tunnel vision." Over time blindness usually occurs.

Fortunately for President Bush and many other people who have regular eye examinations, the problem can almost always be diagnosed and controlled, normally with eye drops. If this is not successful, or if the patient has unwanted side effects from the drops, laser surgery may be used to open up the tissue to provide proper fluid drainage.

CLC softball squad ready to face Skyway's leaders

College of Lake County's women's softball team knows the task set before it faces Skyway Conference rival McHenry April 29.

The Lancers must win the final four league games in order to defend their league championship. Going into the week, CLC was 6-2 in league play while MCC was 8-0.

But Coach Sue Garcia And Co. were hoping a championship at the Marquette Classic in Milwaukee may give them momentum to retain the league title.

"Last year we seemed to get going after the Marquette tournament," Garcia said.

The Lancers opened the pool-play format with a solid pitching performance from Kathleen Quilty. Quilty registered a two-hitter as CLC topped University of Wisconsin at Madison 8-1. CLC scored seven runs in the first inning. Shannon Stanek was three-for-four as was Quilty.

CLC then dropped a 3-2 decision to Purdue after fighting back for a 2-2 tie. Purdue scored the winning run in the eighth inning.

CLC then bounced back against University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Quilty registered her second no-hitter of the season as CLC won 14-0. She had six strikeouts and two walks. Kelly Gust was three-for-five and Karen Gust two-for-four.

CLC advanced to the championship with a 4-3 win over Illinois. Kelly Gust picked up the win. Kim McDonald was two-for-four. The Lancers had to rally in the fifth from a 2-0 deficit.

A Purdue error let CLC score another run in the sixth.

In the seventh, Stanek walked and later scored on a Quilty single.

That put the Lancers and Purdue in the title game, a 4-3 CLC win.

Quilty was the winning pitcher, striking out one and walking four in a six hitter.

CHS wins loop tilt

Carmel High School's baseball team got off to a good start Monday in East Suburban Catholic Conference play and the Corsairs were hoping to continue that momentum against powerful Marist April 28.

The Corsairs downed Holy Cross 6-3 in a comeback win at Carmel. Eric Maloney was the winning pitcher as he fanned 16 hitters.

"Maloney was a pitcher today. He kept them off balance all day. He changed his speeds real well in that game," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Todd Staehle was a perfect four-for-four, while Maloney and Chris Splitt were three-for-four in a 13-hit attack.

Sliding into second

Mundelein's Ashley Struggles slides into second base during game with Crosstown rival Carmel. Carmel second baseman Maggie Drew leaps to grab high throw. Mundelein won handily, 13-1. Mundelein is at Warren April 28. - Photo by Joe Shuman.

Traditional & Progressive

Dear Neighbors,

Recently we have had the pleasure of introducing you to our family and its philosophy of service. Just as with former owners Douglas and Karmena MacGillis, we have pledged to provide the comfort of tradition with the reliability of progress.

In addition to offering our families traditional funeral services, we are pleased to offer progressive options such as visitations with same day services, visitations with a religious ceremony in the funeral home or your church, or memorial service only at the location of your choice. We provide out of state transfers and arrangements, offering the personalized service of our staff accompanying you and handling arrangements up to 800 miles away, staying with you and conducting the ceremony if you so choose.

We offer structured fees, with pricing geared to your needs, your budget, and your expectations for a funeral service customized to your family's wishes.

After 108 years in the business, our family has developed these extra touches because we've been good listeners. We care about our communities, and want to save you frustration, time and money.

Remember, we will also honor all previously arranged, pre-need contracts with MacGillis Funeral Home. Please call if you have any questions on previous arrangements or to discuss pre-need planning for the future.

Sincerely,

Mark Justen

State's Attorney gives money to school anti-drug programs

Lake County States Atty. Fred Foreman has announced that eight new grants of $500 each will be given to Lake County school, anti-drug education programs. The money for these grants comes from monies and other properties that are forfeited from Lake County drug dealers. The state's attorney is given broad discretion under Illinois law on how to dispose of monies he receives as his share of forfeitures. Money is awarded to the state's attorney for his efforts in seizing forfeited property.

Foreman selected Friday, April 27, at 2 p.m., to make presentations to the grant recipients. He has done so because the date happens to be in the middle of National Victims rights week. Foreman wants to emphasize, "Drug offenses are not 'victimless crimes.' In addition to the obvious victims like cocaine babies, lost adolescents, battered wives and broken homes, some experts estimate that as many as 50 percent of all violent crimes are 'drug related.' People rob and steal to pay for their cocaine and narcotics."

Foreman announced that this program will be continued in the future. It may be expanded to include non-school and other charitable organizations, dedicated to teaching children that narcotics of all kinds can ruin America and their lives. Favorable consideration will continue to be given to applicants who deal exclusively with the education of children and prevention of drug use. "We are looking for organizations that use all of the grant money for the children and none for administrative salaries and expenses."

Ceremonies will be held in the main lobby of the Courthouse at 2 p.m., April 27. Others in attendance will be Sheriff Clinton Grinnell; Norman Geary, chairman of the Lake County Board; Audrey Nixon, chairman of the Law and Judiciary Committee of the Lake County Board; James Dolan, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Lake County Board; and Michael J. Waller, chief deputy state's attorney.

Nelson sets open house

Atty. Thomas Nelson now is back to work after being sidelined with an illness for a few months. Nelson has practiced law in the Grayslake area for almost four decades.

Nelson has announced that Atty. Paul Idlas will be expanding his practice into Grayslake.

An open house for Idlas is scheduled for April 27 from 2 to 5 p.m. at 136 Hawley St. in Grayslake.

Nearly one-third of existing municipal solid waste landfills will be full in the next five to seven years.

In Connecticut, Illinois and Los Angeles all landfill capacity will be largely exhausted by 1990, 1993 and 1995, respectively.

New York has closed 18

landfills recently and has not opened any new ones.

Lawn Care

An estimated 17 percent of household waste dumped at landfills is lawn-related.

Grass clippings increase the volume of household waste by 25 to 50 percent from March to September.

By the 1990's, many municipalities and states will have enacted bans on dumping clippings and leaves in landfills. The state of Wisconsin has already enacted such legislation.

When the city of Plano, Texas, did an experiment teaching its citizens to leave clippings on their lawns as fertilizer, the city saved more than $100,000 in waste disposal costs.

Solutions

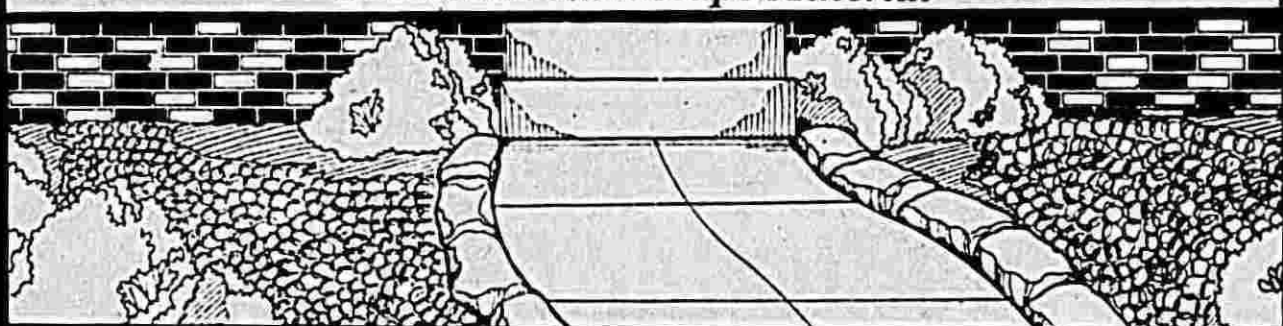

Leaving grass clippings on the lawn is the easiest and most cost-effective way to handle them. They decompose and return nitrogen to the soil.

Studies done by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Univ. of North Carolina have demonstrated there is no thatch build-up on lawns with clippings left on.

Tips for safe gardening

Gardening tools make hours of hard labor a bit easier, but a lack of proper handling and care could lead to serious injuries.

Puncture wounds and falls can occur when rakes, spades or hoes are left hidden in the grass or leaves. Be sure to put these tools away or lean them against a tree with their prongs facing inward when you are not using them.

Protect your tools from rain, snow and dew by storing them in a garage or basement. This will prevent blades from rusting and handles from weakening.
